Yank Air Force Police Clash With 60 Japs

Demonstrators Protest Extension Of Plane Runways

TACHIKAWA, Japan (AP) — U.S. Air Force police clashed with about 60 Japanese demonstrators shouting "Yankee go home" at Tachikawa Air Base today, forcing them off a runway where an extension project is planned.

Four or five demonstrators were injured. The Air Force said none of its men was hurt.

The angry crowd was made up of landowners from nearby Sunakawa Village, bolstered by labor union members and leftist students. They tore down 100 feet of fence and swarmed into the base in an effort to halt a 17-man Japanese survey team plotting the runway extension project.

The Air Force said about 15 air police, wearing pistols and night sticks, waded into the demonstrators after the Japanese blocked traffic on a cross-runway road, threw mud and stones at the survey team and police and tore up survey pegs.

AN AIR FORCE spokesman said the MPs "just shoved the crowd around. They may have been carrying night sticks, but they didn't use them."

The requisition of land for runways at Tachikawa has been a sore point for two years. Bitter anti-American demonstrations broke out after plans were started to expand the base in 1955. Similar incidents occurred in 1956.

The Japanese government is trying to extend the runways into the little farming village of Sunakawa so the base can accommodate the newest jet fighters and bombers. Eventually the base is to be turned over to Japan.

The protesting villagers have complained that they are paid only a pittance for their land. Most have agreed to take compensation payments and move out, but those still in opposition have been backed by leftist student and labor union groups.

Today's incident was the first time Americans have been involved directly in the demonstrations.

Obliging Truck Driver Carries His Fire Away

Sirens rang. Lights flashed. Traffic stopped.

The fire truck screeched to a stop before the King-Kash Furniture Co., 137 E. Court St.

"Where's the fire?" a fireman shouted.

"It went thataway!"

And so it did. An unidentified truck driver had stopped in front of the store, run in, and shouted:

"My cab's on fire."

Employes called police. The driver rushed to his truck. And on second thought. . .

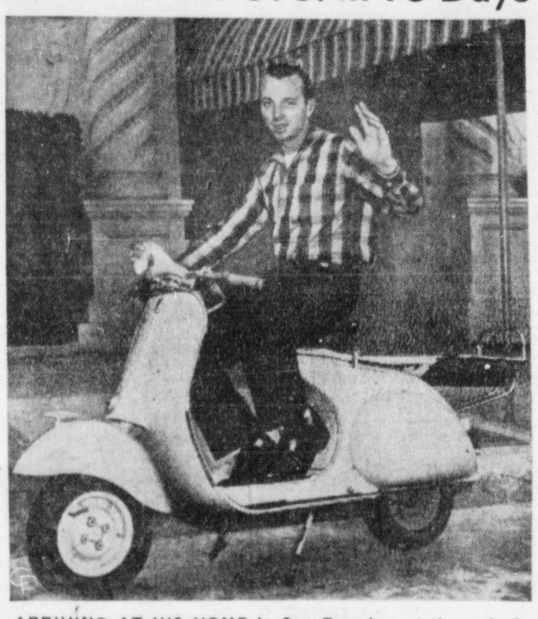

It wasn't the cab. It was only a suitcase which had been leaning against bare wiring. Better get it out of town before it smokes up the business district, the driver thought.

And off he went. City police found him by the East Side School. The blaze was out. He thanked them for their concern. They parted.

Report on Fayette Memorial Audit

Hospital Business Methods Criticized

Criticism of certain bookkeeping methods and accounting procedures at Fayette Memorial Hospital are contained in a state examiner's report made public Thursday, but the 32 - page document points out that the hospital is making changes recommended by the examiner.

At the same time the report, covering the period from June 1, 1954, to March 24, 1957, stipulates that "all receipts were fully accounted for" and expresses the appreciation of State Examiner Earl Serbu to Miss Christene Evans, hospital administrator, and her staff for courtesy and cooperation throughout the audit.

The examination of the hospital records was at the direct request of the present board of trustees, the stated reason being that former audits by state examiners did not fully clarify some of the matters on which the trustees desired detailed information.

Laxity in handling federal payroll taxes and money withheld under the Public Employes Retirement System are among the citations made by the examiner.

One section of the report says: "Since the trustees took custody of its funds from the county on Jan. 1, 1954, no federal payroll taxes withheld from the compensation of the employes had been remitted to the collector of internal revenue.

"This delay in making prompt and regular remittances to federal authorities creates a series of problems involving infractions of federal statutes providing for the assessment of interest, penalties and even penal sentences. The interest alone on the delayed payments for the years 1954, 1955 and 1956 would amount to a figure in excess of $6,000."

THE REPORT then points out that on March 27, 1957, two days after the "cutoff" date of the audit, hospital representatives appeared before the federal authorities (at Cincinnati) and made payment of the payroll withholdings for the three years mentioned. The total

Search Continues For Holdup Man

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Authorities today continued to comb Ashland and Richland counties for a suspect in the $2,800 robbery at the Lucas State Bank in Lucas, Richland County, Tuesday.

Another suspect, Eimer D. Chronister of Wooster, was arrested shortly after the holdup and is being held in Richland County jail for federal authorities.

Chronister, who had $1,551 with him when he was arrested, was on parole from Leavenworth Penitentiary where he served six years for the holdup of a bank in Tiro, Crawford County, in 1949.

House Panel To Take Up GI Trials

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Foreign Affairs Committee members take up today the issue of foreign trials of GIs. But which way they will toss the hot potato was anybody's guess.

Rep. Burleson (D-Tex), acting as committee chairman at the closed session, predicted the group would approve a resolution aimed at the status-of-forces agreements which allow foreign trial of U.S. servicemen for some offenses committed abroad.

Rep. Bow (R-Ohio), spearheading a move to end the disputed agreements, also forecast some committee action. But he opposed a toned-down resolution offered by Burleson. This resolution would be an expression of House sentiment, but would have no force of law.

The issue is coming to a head in committee because the group is about to start voting on President Eisenhower's $3,865,000,000 foreign aid request.

BOW has served notice he will seek to add his administration-opposed resolution to the aid bill on the House floor if the committee doesn't approve it separately. And with congressional mail bulging with protests over the case of Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard. House approval of such a rider would be a distinct possibility.

Administration leaders contend that U.S. denunciation of the status-of-forces agreements could lead to a collapse of America's security system by causing foreign demands for withdrawal of U. S. troops.

Kasper Denied Appeal Rehearing

CINCINNATI (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals, Six Circuit, today denied John Kasper a rehearing of his appeal from contempt of court convictions which developed from school integration disorders in Clinton, Tenn., last August.

The Appellate Court on June 1 upheld a sentence of a year in jail on the grounds that Kasper violated a restraining order issued by the U.S. District Court at Knoxville, Tenn., to prevent interference with integration of Negro and white pupils in Clinton High School.

Kasper, executive secretary of the Seaboard White Citizens Council, has been listed as being from Camden, N. J., and Washington.

The action of the Appeals Court in denying Kasper a rehearing opens the door to an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Five Miners Rescued, All in Good Condition

Auger Frees Trapped Men

Coal Crew Unharmed By 14-Hour Ordeal

STEUBENVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Five grimy miners, trapped for more than 14 hours by a cave-in, scrambled to safety Wednesday night through a hole which a huge mechanical auger had bored 230 feet into a hillside.

When the 42-inch auger was pulled from the hole, the miners followed it out one by one. They blinked at the floodlights which lit the desolate strip mine pit.

A great cheer rose from about a thousand persons—rescue workers, relatives, spectators and newsmen — as the miners rushed to their families, who had waited all day in the hot sun and far into the night.

Doctors examined the men quickly at a shack nearby and said they were not harmed by their ordeal.

"My God, it was cold in there," said Fred Sabol, 33, Harrisville, one of the first out.

THE OTHERS are Hank Horvath, 35, Glenn Robbins; Martin Kovalski, 40, and Joseph Supinski, 47, both of Mount Pleasant; and Kenny Hamilton, 38, Adena.

They were trapped at 8:15 a. m. in a small chamber 300 feet back in a horizontal mine shaft about 150 feet below the crest of a hill. Their rescue came at 10:50 p. m.

The shaft was an end one among seven at Betsy Mine No. 3 of the Powhatan Mining Co. The seven horizontal "punch mining" shafts were connected by an air passage, but the cave-in blocked it with hundreds of tons of loose rock, coal and dirt.

However, air from the other shafts could seep through the porous debris, and rescue workers mounted huge fans in the other tunnels.

Late in the day, after other methods proved unpromising, rescuers started using the huge min-

Engineer Sets Off Blasts As Decoy for Bank Robbery

ORRICK, Mo. (AP)—John Sweeney Hickman, a dapper 51-year-old civil engineer unhappy with his work, wound up in custody after this little town was shaken by two explosions and its Citizens Exchange Bank was robbed of $10,770 Wednesday.

Possemen caught Hickman on a farm half a dozen miles west of Orrick not long after the bank robbery.

He was exhausted from running through the fields. He was groaning in pain from chest and leg injuries. His car had piled up in a gully as a quartet of townsmen chased him at 80 and 90 miles an hour.

Officers recovered the bank's money from beneath a brush pile about 25 yards from Hickman's wrecked car.

ORRICK is a town of about 700 about 30 miles east of Kansas City and Wednesday's big excitement started about 10:30 a. m. when dynamite charges exploded two minutes apart in sheds at the rear of two business buildings about a block from the bank.

Most of those on the street and in the stores headed for the explosion scene, apparently as it was intended, but not Ivan Thomas or Don Hall.

Thomas saw a man run down the street into the bank. Hall heard Thomas yell "holdup" and looked in the bank. A strange man had the cashier, S. D. Brady, in the vault. Hall ducked down the street and spread the alarm but the robber fled through the back door of the bank.

Hall picked up his trail again as he drove west out of town. He alerted the Fulte brothers—Clyde and Bobby — and Keith Artman. Clyde got his automatic rifle. All four piled into Artman's car and took up the chase.

Dick Dale, Ray County prosecutor, said he will charge Hickman with armed robbery, as soon as he is released from the hospital at Richmond, Mo., where he is being treated for his injuries.

UNTIL June 1, Hickman had worked nine years for the E. I. Meyers Construction Co. at Ottawa, Kan., 60 miles southwest of Kansas City.

"He quit because he wanted more money than I could pay him," Meyers said.

Hickman tried to get his old job back last week but Meyers turned him down. One of Hickman's last assignments had been survey work around Orrick, part of it on the farm where he was captured.

"He must have suffered some kind of a mental twist," said Mrs. Hickman, a nurse in Ottawa.

The Hickmans have three children.

AWOL Gob Chooses Navy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A young Columbus sailor, who chose a return to the Navy rather than a prison term in Ohio, today faces a possible court martial for deserting four times.

Francis Wilson, 17, was given the choice Tuesday in Juvenile Court here. He was held on a grand larceny charge.

The youth said he would "take my chances," on Mansfield, but changed his mind Wednesday after he was given 24 hours to reconsider.

Vacationer Dies In Texas Park

Man's Body Found, Wife Still Missing

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—The body of a vacationing businessman, missing with his wife since Tuesday in an isolated section of sprawling Big Bend National Park, was found Wednesday, lying face down on a sunbeaten dirt road. The search for his wife was resumed today.

The body of Clifford S. White, Houston, Tex., was spotted by Russell While, Marfa, Tex., a Civil Air Patrol pilot. Ground crews reached the body about an hour later and it was taken to Alpine.

Park Supt. George W. Miller said, "It was just a case of a couple getting stuck in an isolated place, becoming hysterical, and dying from exhaustion and heat. I don't understand why the couple wasn't together though." Authorities held little hope that Mrs. White might be found alive.

Park rangers estimated White walked 10 miles in scorching temperatures in an attempt to find help after their station wagon got stuck in the sand by the Rio Grande in this southwest Texas county. Temperatures reached 114 degrees in the area yesterday.

Woman Suffers Brutal Beating At Hands of 3

CLEVELAND (AP)—An East Side mother of two was attacked early today by three men in what Cleveland police officers termed the most vicious assault in their memory.

The woman told police that during a two-hour period she was beaten, suffering broken teeth, a black eye and a cut lip, and was assaulted five times.

The 26-year-old woman, whose husband was at work at the time, said she was out looking for a young brother, about whom she became worried.

She said two men standing in the shadows near a bar grabbed her and dragged her between two buildings.

The two later were joined by a third man in a car, she told police.

The 5-foot-2, 100-pound woman was treated at Mt. Sinai Hospital and released. Police are seeking to learn the identity of the assailants.

$300,000 Drug Cache Seized

CHICAGO (AP) — Detectives today seized narcotic valued at $300,000 or more.

They also arrested Melvin Harris, 41, Negro owner of a drug store, after hours of shadowing and stakeout duty.

The detectives said Harris offered them $20,000 in cash, plus a new car for each of them, if they would let him go.

Harris was held without immediate charge.

Thousands Flee Lowland Areas On Gulf Coast

7 Reported Drowned On Fishing Vessel Sunk Off Galveston

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Audrey, a killer which took at least eight lives, smashed into the Texas-Louisiana border area today with winds at some places up to 100 miles an hour.

The Port Arthur Weather Bureau said the hurricane first hit Cameron, La., with winds of only 65 miles per hour.

The 100-mile winds were clocked at Orange, Tex., and Lake Charles, La., north and northwest of Cameron.

Seven of the eight deaths occurred when the fishing vessel Keturah sank. Another man drowned in a strong undertow.

THE HURRICANE area is one of the world's most important oil centers. It is a sprawling complex of industry and petroleum, with chemical plants, oil refineries, and oil tanker loading facilities.

In the hurricane's path were Beaumont, Orange, Port Neches, Nederland, Groves, Port Acres and a score of smaller communities.

Great tides, reaching 9 feet, appeared as dangerous as the hurricane winds. By early morning they were breaking over a sea wall on Sabine Lake which splits Louisiana and Texas.

At Galveston, 70 miles southwest and out of the direct path, water splashed over the sea wall and almost all downtown streets were flooded. It was in Galveston in 1900 that a hurricane took 5,000 live-some say many more — in one of the nation's great disasters. That was before the present sea wall was built.

AT ORANGE, 20 miles northeast of Port Arthur, Sheriff Chester Holts reported the three-story Orange County Courthouse was "packed to the rafters" with refugees.

At Galveston, a number of fishing boats were reported sunk in the harbor, but there

Major Powers Near Accord On Armament Stockpiling

LONDON (AP)—U.S. officials considered partial disarmament another step nearer today. Russia has accepted in principle an American plan for the big powers to transfer stocks of nonnuclear weapons to international control.

Long and complicated negotiations remained, however, before the plan could start working.

U.S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen proposed at Wednesday's meeting of the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee the major nations draw up specific lists of their own armaments that they are willing to stockpile under international supervision. Later the weapons would be destroyed or converted to peaceful use.

The new formula was to meet British and French objections to previous proposals put forward by both the United States and Russia for cutting conventional arms by some fixed percentage. Britain and France felt the earlier proposals would work to their disadvantage because of their smaller armies.

STASSEN'S new plan was given qualified approval by all other members of the subcommittee — Britain, France, Russia and Canada.

Soviet representative Valerian Zorin said Russia would go along with the idea and prepare a list, Stassen would not commit the United States on that.

Stassen's formula affects only one phase of the disarmament problem, reduction of conventional weapons. The five-nation subcommittee also is seeking ways to cut the size of armed forces and halt nuclear weapon testing and production.

Under the U.S. plan, the United States, Russia, Britain and France would draw up lists of planes, tanks, heavy guns, missiles. ships and other armaments they are willing to surrender. The lists would be presented to the U.N. subcommittee for agreement.

ONCE each nation was satisfied that the others were making a fair and proportionate reduction and agreement was reached on other points, the disarmament treaty could proceed.

Then each nation would place the specified weapons in depots under international inspection on its own territory. After a year, the weapons could be destroyed or converted to peaceful purposes under international agreement.

Governors Show Unhappiness With Tight Money Policy

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Republican and Democratic governors collectively have served notice on the Eisenhower administration that its tight money policy is pinching their efforts to finance school buildings and other capital expenditures.

In a unanimous resolution, the 49th annual Governors Conference at its windup Wednesday noted that "bonds have been floated at higher and higher interest rates, thus increasing amortization costs."

It asked the President and Congress to "take cognizance of this additional burden on the taxpayers of America with a view of alleviating" it.

The governors met Eisenhower's request for a joint study with his administration of federal-state relationships by providing for a committee to work with the administration. The President had suggested such a study with an eye to rolling back to the states functions and revenues now controlled in Washington.

The conference named Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois as its chairman and designated Florida—(probably Boca Raton)—for next year's get-together. Republican Stratton succeeds Democratic Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia.

Thirty-two governors, in an action outside the conference, sent a telegram Wednesday to the President urging a reduction of oil imports from the present ratio of 22 per cent of America's national production to 16.6 per cent. At the same time Eisenhower was creating a special Cabinet committee to study whether crude oil is being imported "in such quantities as to threaten to impair national security."

The resolution on interest rates appeared to be a slap at the administration's policy of attempting to control inflation by upping interest rates. However, Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, said there was no difficulty in getting Republicans on the committee to go along with the resolution.

Council Asks PUCO Assistance On Gas Rate Increase Request

City Council has formally asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for an accounting and engineering survey on the Dayton Power and Light Co.'s local operations as well as "specific recommendations" on a gas rate increase request presented by the company.

The city lawmakers, in a resolution approved at its regular meeting Wednesday night, indicated that they felt they could not act in the matter without independent advice and additional data.

DP&I officials appeared before Council more than a month ago with a request that the residential rate for gas be increased approximately 8.3 per cent.

COUNCIL ASKED the utility to bring its facts and figures up to date before giving the request consideration and then voted to ask the Public Utilities Commission for further data on the company's operation and rate of return on its local investment.

There was no other legislation before the lawmaking body Wednesday night.

A letter was read from the City of Chillicothe inviting members of the Washington C. H. city administration to attend the dedication of the newly remodeled Chillicothe City Hall on Sunday.

A report from Municipal Court listed collections of $4,448.90 during May.

GI in Spotlight, Japanese Sweetheart Plan Wedding

KAGOHARA, Japan (AP) — Haur (Candy) Sueyama said today she and American soldier William S. Girard will be married "in three or four days" at his Army camp

Girard is restricted to Camp Whittington, awaiting a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court on whether he should be turned over to a Japanese court to be tried for killing a Japanese woman scrap collector while on guard duty on a military firing range. The case has kicked up an international furore.

Miss Sueyama said the wedding would be "quiet and simple." The couple had planned to marry in March, but Army permission was delayed because Girard had not obtained the required birth certificate from his home in Ottawa, Ill. The certificate arrived Tuesday.

An officer at Camp Whittington said all necessary documents had been submitted to Girard's unit headquarters in Tokyo, but there was no indication when permission for the marriage would be given.

Miss Sueyama said the wedding would be at the Camp Whittington chapel or at the home of a sergeant friend inside the camp, where the couple have spent their evenings while Girard has been confined to the base.

Girard is 21 and Miss Sueyama 27.

He was exhausted from running through the fields. He was groaning in pain from chest and leg injuries. His car had piled up in a gully as a quartet of townsmen chased him at 80 and 90 miles an hour.

Officers recovered the bank's money from beneath a brush pile about 25 yards from Hickman's wrecked car.

ORRICK is a town of about 700 about 30 miles east of Kansas City and Wednesday's big excitement started about 10:30 a. m. when dynamite charges exploded two minutes apart in sheds at the rear of two business buildings about a block from the bank.

Most of those on the street and in the stores headed for the explosion scene, apparently as it was intended, but not Ivan Thomas or Don Hall.

Thomas saw a man run down the street into the bank. Hall heard Thomas yell "holdup" and looked in the bank. A strange man had the cashier, S. D. Brady, in the vault. Hall ducked down the street and spread the alarm but the robber fled through the back door of the bank.

Hall picked up his trail again as he drove west out of town. He alerted the Fulte brothers—Clyde and Bobby — and Keith Artman. Clyde got his automatic rifle. All four piled into Artman's car and took up the chase.

Dick Dale, Ray County prosecutor, said he will charge Hickman with armed robbery, as soon as he is released from the hospital at Richmond, Mo., where he is being treated for his injuries.

UNTIL June 1, Hickman had worked nine years for the E. I. Meyers Construction Co. at Ottawa, Kan., 60 miles southwest of Kansas City.

"He quit because he wanted more money than I could pay him," Meyers said.

Hickman tried to get his old job back last week but Meyers turned him down. One of Hickman's last assignments had been survey work around Orrick, part of it on the farm where he was captured.

"He must have suffered some kind of a mental twist," said Mrs. Hickman, a nurse in Ottawa.

The Hickmans have three children.

AWOL Gob Chooses Navy

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A young Columbus sailor, who chose a return to the Navy rather than a prison term in Ohio, today faces a possible court martial for deserting four times.

Francis Wilson, 17, was given the choice Tuesday in Juvenile Court here. He was held on a grand larceny charge.

The youth said he would "take my chances," on Mansfield, but changed his mind Wednesday after he was given 24 hours to reconsider.

Vacationer Dies In Texas Park

Man's Body Found, Wife Still Missing

ALPINE, Tex. (AP)—The body of a vacationing businessman, missing with his wife since Tuesday in an isolated section of sprawling Big Bend National Park, was found Wednesday, lying face down on a sunbeaten dirt road. The search for his wife was resumed today.

The body of Clifford S. White, Houston, Tex., was spotted by Russell While, Marfa, Tex., a Civil Air Patrol pilot. Ground crews reached the body about an hour later and it was taken to Alpine.

Park Supt. George W. Miller said, "It was just a case of a couple getting stuck in an isolated place, becoming hysterical, and dying from exhaustion and heat. I don't understand why the couple wasn't together though." Authorities held little hope that Mrs. White might be found alive.

Park rangers estimated White walked 10 miles in scorching temperatures in an attempt to find help after their station wagon got stuck in the sand by the Rio Grande in this southwest Texas county. Temperatures reached 114 degrees in the area yesterday.

Woman Suffers Brutal Beating At Hands of 3

CLEVELAND (AP)—An East Side mother of two was attacked early today by three men in what Cleveland police officers termed the most vicious assault in their memory.

The woman told police that during a two-hour period she was beaten, suffering broken teeth, a black eye and a cut lip, and was assaulted five times.

The 26-year-old woman, whose husband was at work at the time, said she was out looking for a young brother, about whom she became worried.

She said two men standing in the shadows near a bar grabbed her and dragged her between two buildings.

The two later were joined by a third man in a car, she told police.

The 5-foot-2, 100-pound woman was treated at Mt. Sinai Hospital and released. Police are seeking to learn the identity of the assailants.

$300,000 Drug Cache Seized

CHICAGO (AP) — Detectives today seized narcotic valued at $300,000 or more.

They also arrested Melvin Harris, 41, Negro owner of a drug store, after hours of shadowing and stakeout duty.

The detectives said Harris offered them $20,000 in cash, plus a new car for each of them, if they would let him go.

Harris was held without immediate charge.

Thousands Flee Lowland Areas On Gulf Coast

7 Reported Drowned On Fishing Vessel Sunk Off Galveston

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (AP)—Hurricane Audrey, a killer which took at least eight lives, smashed into the Texas-Louisiana border area today with winds at some places up to 100 miles an hour.

The Port Arthur Weather Bureau said the hurricane first hit Cameron, La., with winds of only 65 miles per hour.

The 100-mile winds were clocked at Orange, Tex., and Lake Charles, La., north and northwest of Cameron.

Seven of the eight deaths occurred when the fishing vessel Keturah sank. Another man drowned in a strong undertow.

THE HURRICANE area is one of the world's most important oil centers. It is a sprawling complex of industry and petroleum, with chemical plants, oil refineries, and oil tanker loading facilities.

In the hurricane's path were Beaumont, Orange, Port Neches, Nederland, Groves, Port Acres and a score of smaller communities.

Great tides, reaching 9 feet, appeared as dangerous as the hurricane winds. By early morning they were breaking over a sea wall on Sabine Lake which splits Louisiana and Texas.

At Galveston, 70 miles southwest and out of the direct path, water splashed over the sea wall and almost all downtown streets were flooded. It was in Galveston in 1900 that a hurricane took 5,000 live-some say many more — in one of the nation's great disasters. That was before the present sea wall was built.

AT ORANGE, 20 miles northeast of Port Arthur, Sheriff Chester Holts reported the three-story Orange County Courthouse was "packed to the rafters" with refugees.

At Galveston, a number of fishing boats were reported sunk in the harbor, but there

Halliday Buys Former Roads Motor Building

Carroll Halliday, Washington C. H. Ford and Mercury dealer, disclosed Thursday that he has purchased the former Roads Motor Sales Co., building, 907 Columbus Ave., and that the Halliday agency will move from its present quarters, 135 N. Fayette St., to the new location as soon as the Columbus Ave. building is remodeled and enlarged.

Carroll Halliday Inc. has occupied the Fayette St. quarters for 21 of its 25 years in Washington C. H.

Halliday, president of the firm, said details of the transaction were completed Thursday morning with Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Roads, Sr., owners of the newly acquired building. No purchase price was announced.

THE PRESENT 65 by 100 foot building stands on a lot 135 feet wide and ranging from 150 to 235 feet in depth. Halliday said plans call for a 40x100 addition on the rear, giving ample space

Major Powers Near Accord On Armament Stockpiling

LONDON (AP)—U.S. officials considered partial disarmament another step nearer today. Russia has accepted in principle an American plan for the big powers to transfer stocks of nonnuclear weapons to international control.

Long and complicated negotiations remained, however, before the plan could start working.

U.S. Delegate Harold E. Stassen proposed at Wednesday's meeting of the U.N. Disarmament subcommittee the major nations draw up specific lists of their own armaments that they are willing to stockpile under international supervision. Later the weapons would be destroyed or converted to peaceful use.

The new formula was to meet British and French objections to previous proposals put forward by both the United States and Russia for cutting conventional arms by some fixed percentage. Britain and France felt the earlier proposals would work to their disadvantage because of their smaller armies.

STASSEN'S new plan was given qualified approval by all other members of the subcommittee — Britain, France, Russia and Canada.

Soviet representative Valerian Zorin said Russia would go along with the idea and prepare a list, Stassen would not commit the United States on that.

Stassen's formula affects only one phase of the disarmament problem, reduction of conventional weapons. The five-nation subcommittee also is seeking ways to cut the size of armed forces and halt nuclear weapon testing and production.

Under the U.S. plan, the United States, Russia, Britain and France would draw up lists of planes, tanks, heavy guns, missiles. ships and other armaments they are willing to surrender. The lists would be presented to the U.N. subcommittee for agreement.

ONCE each nation was satisfied that the others were making a fair and proportionate reduction and agreement was reached on other points, the disarmament treaty could proceed.

Then each nation would place the specified weapons in depots under international inspection on its own territory. After a year, the weapons could be destroyed or converted to peaceful purposes under international agreement.

Governors Show Unhappiness With Tight Money Policy

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Republican and Democratic governors collectively have served notice on the Eisenhower administration that its tight money policy is pinching their efforts to finance school buildings and other capital expenditures.

In a unanimous resolution, the 49th annual Governors Conference at its windup Wednesday noted that "bonds have been floated at higher and higher interest rates, thus increasing amortization costs."

It asked the President and Congress to "take cognizance of this additional burden on the taxpayers of America with a view of alleviating" it.

The governors met Eisenhower's request for a joint study with his administration of federal-state relationships by providing for a committee to work with the administration. The President had suggested such a study with an eye to rolling back to the states functions and revenues now controlled in Washington.

The conference named Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois as its chairman and designated Florida—(probably Boca Raton)—for next year's get-together. Republican Stratton succeeds Democratic Gov. Thomas B. Stanley of Virginia.

Thirty-two governors, in an action outside the conference, sent a telegram Wednesday to the President urging a reduction of oil imports from the present ratio of 22 per cent of America's national production to 16.6 per cent. At the same time Eisenhower was creating a special Cabinet committee to study whether crude oil is being imported "in such quantities as to threaten to impair national security."

The resolution on interest rates appeared to be a slap at the administration's policy of attempting to control inflation by upping interest rates. However, Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina, chairman of the Resolutions Committee, said there was no difficulty in getting Republicans on the committee to go along with the resolution.

Council Asks PUCO Assistance On Gas Rate Increase Request

City Council has formally asked the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio for an accounting and engineering survey on the Dayton Power and Light Co.'s local operations as well as "specific recommendations" on a gas rate increase request presented by the company.

The city lawmakers, in a resolution approved at its regular meeting Wednesday night, indicated that they felt they could not act in the matter without independent advice and additional data.

DP&I officials appeared before Council more than a month ago with a request that the residential rate for gas be increased approximately 8.3 per cent.

COUNCIL ASKED the utility to bring its facts and figures up to date before giving the request consideration and then voted to ask the Public Utilities Commission for further data on the company's operation and rate of return on its local investment.

There was no other legislation before the lawmaking body Wednesday night.

A letter was read from the City of Chillicothe inviting members of the Washington C. H. city administration to attend the dedication of the newly remodeled Chillicothe City Hall on Sunday.

A report from Municipal Court listed collections of $4,448.90 during May.

GI in Spotlight, Japanese Sweetheart Plan Wedding

KAGOHARA, Japan (AP) — Haur (Candy) Sueyama said today she and American soldier William S. Girard will be married "in three or four days" at his Army camp

Girard is restricted to Camp Whittington, awaiting a decision by the U.S. Supreme Court on whether he should be turned over to a Japanese court to be tried for killing a Japanese woman scrap collector while on guard duty on a military firing range. The case has kicked up an international furore.

Miss Sueyama said the wedding would be "quiet and simple." The couple had planned to marry in March, but Army permission was delayed because Girard had not obtained the required birth certificate from his home in Ottawa. Ill. The certificate arrived Tuesday.

An officer at Camp Whittington said all necessary documents had been submitted to Girard's unit headquarters in Tokyo, but there was no indication when permission for the marriage would be given.

Miss Sueyama said the wedding would be at the Camp Whittington chapel or at the home of a sergeant friend inside the camp, where the couple have spent their evenings while Girard has been confined to the base.

Girard is 21 and Miss Sueyama 27.

Comeback Due For Softball

Second Dance Set At City Park Here

There are indications today that softball is making a comeback here after three years of absence from the Washington C. H. sports scene.

Interest in the revival started when Fred Domenico, director of the summer community recreation program, announced that a playing field would be put in at the park on Millikan Ave. There was little reaction to the announcement for some time— and then the girls started talking it up.

Mrs. Donald Graves, one of the city's ardent feminine sports enthusiasts and quite a softball player, said she had been getting calls from girls interested in forming as many teams as possible.

Mrs. Graves talked it all over with Domenico and they set 6 p. m. Monday evening as the time for all girls interested in playing softball to meet at the park. There and then, the future will be decided.

Meanwhile, there has been some evidence of a growing interest among the men— but Domenico admitted it was not as great as he had expected.

Domenico was supervising the finishing touches being put on the new softball field Thursday. He said it would be ready for play, scalped diamond and all, by Monday.

SHARING interest with the new developments in the budding softball program was the second of the series of dances planned for the park this summer as a part of the recreation program.

Like the first one that was held last Friday night, the one this Friday will be on the new all-purpose court just between the creek and parking lot on Millikan Ave.

It will be the same type of dance, half square dances and half the convention ballroom-type. The music will be recorded and broadcast over a loudspeaker system. Clarence McDermott will come from Wilmington to "call" the square dance.

The first dance was sponsored by the Lioness Club; this one will be sponsored by the Holy Name of Society of St. Colman's Church, Domenico said.

At the first dance there were people of all ages, including many parents and children.

O'Neill Sees Ohio Future U. S. Leader

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Within 10 or 15 years Ohio may be the leading state in the nation in manufacturing, says Ohio's Gov. C. William O'Neill.

O'Neill spoke at the 49th annual National Governors' Conference here.

O'Neill said his state is now second in general manufacturing and "we are expanding in industrial development at a very rapid rate."

The next generation, he said, could see Ohio rivaling Michigan in automobile manufacturing and allied fields.

"A great many automobile manufacturers have been locating new plants in Ohio," O'Neill said, "with very substantial investments. Our economy is tied closely to the automobile industry, with rubber, glass and steel plants."

Kewanee Oil Well Down 4,320 Feet

The drill at Kewanee Well No. 1 was down to 4,320 feet, at 8 a. m. Thursday, a gain of 47 feet in 24 hours. The rock formation is hard.

The well is now approximately 2,300 feet deeper than any well previously drilled in Fayette County. Kewanee officials have not said whether any gas or oil have been struck, and there have been no indications to that effect at the well site.

Family Affair

Then they learned it was a family affair. The two 17-year-old seniors were married secretly last August, but it wasn't disclosed until the bride's mother found the marriage license in her daughter's room.

for service facilities including repair, body and paint shops.

Present office space also will be enlarged.

Remodeling work will start immediately, and Halliday, who will lease the building to the corporation, said he hopes the move can be made in the next two months.

HALLIDAY owns the shop section of the company's present headquarters at 135 N. Fayette St., but the showroom adjoining it on the south is part of a building owned by Frank and Miss Emma Jackson.

There was no announcement of plans for the Fayette St. buildings after the Halliday agency makes its move.

The Roads Motor Sales Co. went out of business June 13, selling cars, parts and real estate at auction. It was announced at that time that the building was sold to a Dayton real estate broker for $39,500, but Halliday said that he had purchased it directly from Mr. and Mrs. Roads.

Miners Rescued

ing auger — a machine which added nine 21-foot-long bits in sequence as the auger went deeper through a vein of coal.

THE FIRST two attempts with the auger failed when it hit rock. On the second boring, 180 feet deep, workers heard voices.

Two more 21-foot bit sections were rolled in by hand and mounted on the machine for the third boring.

When the drill broke through into the chamber, the trapped men loaded a cloth hat and a piece of lumber into the bit. When they came out at the other end, the rescuers knew they had reached their goal.

The men said they were trapped in a chamber about 9½ feet wide, 20 feet long and 12 feet high.

Supinski gave this version of the sudden cave-in which trapped the five miners:

"We heard the roar and tried for an exit but we saw we were too late so we ran for the room (a small cleared opening) where we had been working.

"THE FIRST two hours were the worst. We prayed. After that we slept or talked and thought. About once an hour we'd have a cigarette."

Mrs. Supinski, after embracing her husband, told him:

"You're never going into the mines again. We're going on a vacation and you're going to get another job."

Supinski wiped his face wearily, then said:

"I'll go back. I'm a miner!"

Senate Committee Studies Supreme Court Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee embarked today on an exploration of what can or should be done about controversial Supreme Court decisions which are drawing an increasingly explosive congressional crossfire.

Senate comments on the court ranged from "power wild," "pro-communistic" and tyrannical on the one side to "courageous" and defender of freedoms on the other.

There also were warnings on the Senate floor about hasty, excited and abusive criticism of the court, in line with President Eisenhower's news conference opinion Wednesday that "we should respect its duties and its responsibilities."

Eisennower said we shouldn't forget this, or that the court "is just as essential to our system of government as is the President or as is the Congress," although "each of us has very great trouble understanding" some of the latest decisions.

THESE decisions, championing individual rights over the actions of some congressional and other public groups, have raised a cloud of uncertainty over congressional investigations of communism.

In some instances they have thrown secret FBI files open to inspection by defendants in trials. Some narcotics prosecutions and an income tax case already have been dropped to avoid disclosing the identity of secret informants and investigative techniques, and Justice Department sources said Wednesday night other cases may have to be dropped.

Members of Congress are tossing in bills to counteract the various Supreme Court rulings of which they are critical.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) said the Senate Judiciary Committee staff has been put to work studying them "to see what we can do." At this point, he said in an interview, he is unwilling to predict the outcome.

One Judiciary subcommittee is getting a quick start, Friday, on hearings on legislation to restrict to "relevant" material the information from FBI files the government must supply defendants in criminal cases, Atty. Gen. Brownell will testify.

ANOTHER subcommittee, on internal security, met a challenge laid down under two June 17 Supreme Court rulings by making a third stab today at grilling two witnesses in an inquiry into communism in labor unions. Members talked of possible contempt citations.

The two, Howard V. Trautman and Salvatore A. Testa, both of New York, were faced not only with possible contempt action but also loss of their jobs with RCA Communications, Inc.

Texas Hurricane

was no estimate of the number. Low areas around Galveston were evacuated.

At Orange, naval officers said they believed the 130 ships of the reserve fleet were secure.

Several homes in a new Orange subdivision were damaged by falling trees during the first burst of high winds.

Orange business was at a virtual standstill. Power and other utility lines were blown down and emergency telephone calls were being received.

BY EARLY morning, 350 telephone circuits were out at Galveston. A large number of downtown plate glass windows were broken by flying debris or high wind. Water was up to the curb and completely across most business district streets, and into some stores. The same conditions occurred at Texas City, on the mainland across from Galveston Island on which the City of Galveston sits.

More than 2,000 residents of homes considered unsafe at Port Arthur fled to sound structures. The Port Arthur Red Cross prepared facilities to feed 3,000 persons after the storm passes.

Nearly 400 children at four church camps along Galveston Bay were evacuated to Baytown for shelter.

Expected rains of 4 to 8 inches could do still more damage. At Orange, the Sabine River stood at 2.4 feet above normal and was rising fast from the high tides. Most of the hurricane area is on very low ground.

All industrial plants in Orange County ceased operations.

BY 8:30 A. M., most of Orange was without electric service. By that time the wind was 70 m.p.h.

Lamar Liefer of Chatfield, Tex., apparently drowned when he was caught by a sudden strong undertow at Galveston Wednesday.

All except a few persons were evacuated from Grand Isle, resort center about 50 miles from New Orleans. Choppy waters were rushing through breaks left by the destructive Hurricane Flossy last September.

Nationalist China's official central daily news reported that at least 33 persons were killed on Formosa in floods or landslides. No Americans were among the casualties.

TAIPEI, (AP)—Action flared on both ends of the offshore island front today. The Nationalists said three Red gunboats shelled Tatan islet, near Amoy, firing more than 300 rounds. The Reds reportedly fired 191 shells from the mainland at tiny Kaoteng, most vulnerable island in the Matsu group.

Passport Denials Upheld by Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld the State Department's rights to deny passports to persons who refuse to sign non-Communist oaths.

The court ruled in the case of Dr. Walter Briehl, Los Angeles psychiatrist, and artist Rockwell Kent.

Both had refused to sign non-Communist affidavits in connection with their passport applications.

The court divided 5-3 in each case.

Comeback Due For Softball

Second Dance Set At City Park Here

There are indications today that softball is making a comeback here after three years of absence from the Washington C. H. sports scene.

Interest in the revival started when Fred Domenico, director of the summer community recreation program, announced that a playing field would be put in at the park on Millikan Ave. There was little reaction to the announcement for some time— and then the girls started talking it up.

Mrs. Donald Graves, one of the city's ardent feminine sports enthusiasts and quite a softball player, said she had been getting calls from girls interested in forming as many teams as possible.

Mrs. Graves talked it all over with Domenico and they set 6 p. m. Monday evening as the time for all girls interested in playing softball to meet at the park. There and then, the future will be decided.

Meanwhile, there has been some evidence of a growing interest among the men— but Domenico admitted it was not as great as he had expected.

Domenico was supervising the finishing touches being put on the new softball field Thursday. He said it would be ready for play, scalped diamond and all, by Monday.

SHARING interest with the new developments in the budding softball program was the second of the series of dances planned for the park this summer as a part of the recreation program.

Like the first one that was held last Friday night, the one this Friday will be on the new all-purpose court just between the creek and parking lot on Millikan Ave.

It will be the same type of dance, half square dances and half the convention ballroom-type. The music will be recorded and broadcast over a loudspeaker system. Clarence McDermott will come from Wilmington to "call" the square dance.

The first dance was sponsored by the Lioness Club; this one will be sponsored by the Holy Name of Society of St. Colman's Church, Domenico said.

At the first dance there were people of all ages, including many parents and children.

O'Neill Sees Ohio Future U. S. Leader

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP)—Within 10 or 15 years Ohio may be the leading state in the nation in manufacturing, says Ohio's Gov. C. William O'Neill.

O'Neill spoke at the 49th annual National Governors' Conference here.

O'Neill said his state is now second in general manufacturing and "we are expanding in industrial development at a very rapid rate."

The next generation, he said, could see Ohio rivaling Michigan in automobile manufacturing and allied fields.

"A great many automobile manufacturers have been locating new plants in Ohio," O'Neill said, "with very substantial investments. Our economy is tied closely to the automobile industry, with rubber, glass and steel plants."

Kewanee Oil Well Down 4,320 Feet

The drill at Kewanee Well No. 1 was down to 4,320 feet, at 8 a. m. Thursday, a gain of 47 feet in 24 hours. The rock formation is hard.

The well is now approximately 2,300 feet deeper than any well previously drilled in Fayette County. Kewanee officials have not said whether any gas or oil have been struck, and there have been no indications to that effect at the well site.

Family Affair

WELCH, Okla. (AP) — School officials selected Larry Swango as valedictorian of the high school graduating class here and Lora Mae Durham as salutatorian.

Then they learned it was a family affair. The two 17-year-old seniors were married secretly last August, but it wasn't disclosed until the bride's mother found the marriage license in her daughter's room.

She is survived by her husband, John D. Smith; two daughters, Mrs. Mary E. Berry, Springfield; and Mrs. Jean Mullinix, Octa; seven sons, J. Raymond, Springfield; Arthur P. and Maurice of Chillicothe; Warrant Officer Glenn R., Sacramento, Calif.; Stanley, Bryan, Ill.; Everett M., Ashland, Ore., and Paul E. of Denver, Colo.; 17 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

A sister, Mrs. Cora Smith, lives in Enid, Okla.

for service facilities including repair, body and paint shops.

Present office space also will be enlarged.

Remodeling work will start immediately, and Halliday, who will lease the building to the corporation, said he hopes the move can be made in the next two months.

HALLIDAY owns the shop section of the company's present headquarters at 135 N. Fayette St., but the showroom adjoining it on the south is part of a building owned by Frank and Miss Emma Jackson.

There was no announcement of plans for the Fayette St. buildings after the Halliday agency makes its move.

The Roads Motor Sales Co. went out of business June 13, selling cars, parts and real estate at auction. It was announced at that time that the building was sold to a Dayton real estate broker for $39,500, but Halliday said that he had purchased it directly from Mr. and Mrs. Roads.

Miners Rescued

ing auger — a machine which added nine 21-foot-long bits in sequence as the auger went deeper through a vein of coal.

THE FIRST two attempts with the auger failed when it hit rock. On the second boring, 180 feet deep, workers heard voices.

Two more 21-foot bit sections were rolled in by hand and mounted on the machine for the third boring.

When the drill broke through into the chamber, the trapped men loaded a cloth hat and a piece of lumber into the bit. When they came out at the other end, the rescuers knew they had reached their goal.

The men said they were trapped in a chamber about 9½ feet wide, 20 feet long and 12 feet high.

Supinski gave this version of the sudden cave-in which trapped the five miners:

"We heard the roar and tried for an exit but we saw we were too late so we ran for the room (a small cleared opening) where we had been working.

"THE FIRST two hours were the worst. We prayed. After that we slept or talked and thought. About once an hour we'd have a cigarette."

Mrs. Supinski, after embracing her husband, told him:

"You're never going into the mines again. We're going on a vacation and you're going to get another job."

Supinski wiped his face wearily, then said:

"I'll go back. I'm a miner!"

Senate Committee Studies Supreme Court Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee embarked today on an exploration of what can or should be done about controversial Supreme Court decisions which are drawing an increasingly explosive congressional crossfire.

Senate comments on the court ranged from "power wild," "pro-communistic" and tyrannical on the one side to "courageous" and defender of freedoms on the other.

There also were warnings on the Senate floor about hasty, excited and abusive criticism of the court, in line with President Eisenhower's news conference opinion Wednesday that "we should respect its duties and its responsibilities."

Eisennower said we shouldn't forget this, or that the court "is just as essential to our system of government as is the President or as is the Congress," although "each of us has very great trouble understanding" some of the latest decisions.

THESE decisions, championing individual rights over the actions of some congressional and other public groups, have raised a cloud of uncertainty over congressional investigations of communism.

In some instances they have thrown secret FBI files open to inspection by defendants in trials. Some narcotics prosecutions and an income tax case already have been dropped to avoid disclosing the identity of secret informants and investigative techniques, and Justice Department sources said Wednesday night other cases may have to be dropped.

Members of Congress are tossing in bills to counteract the various Supreme Court rulings of which they are critical.

Chairman Eastland (D-Miss) said the Senate Judiciary Committee staff has been put to work studying them "to see what we can do." At this point, he said in an interview, he is unwilling to predict the outcome.

One Judiciary subcommittee is getting a quick start, Friday, on hearings on legislation to restrict to "relevant" material the information from FBI files the government must supply defendants in criminal cases. Atty. Gen. Brownell will testify.

ANOTHER subcommittee, on internal security, met a challenge laid down under two June 17 Supreme Court rulings by making a third stab today at grilling two witnesses in an inquiry into communism in labor unions. Members talked of possible contempt citations.

The two, Howard V. Trautman and Salvatore A. Testa, both of New York, were faced not only with possible contempt action but also loss of their jobs with RCA Communications, Inc.

Texas Hurricane

was no estimate of the number. Low areas around Galveston were evacuated.

At Orange, naval officers said they believed the 130 ships of the reserve fleet were secure.

Several homes in a new Orange subdivision were damaged by falling trees during the first burst of high winds.

Orange business was at a virtual standstill. Power and other utility lines were blown down and emergency telephone calls were being received.

BY EARLY morning, 350 telephone circuits were out at Galveston. A large number of downtown plate glass windows were broken by flying debris or high wind. Water was up to the curb and completely across most business district streets, and into some stores. The same conditions occurred at Texas City, on the mainland across from Galveston Island on which the City of Galveston sits.

More than 2,000 residents of homes considered unsafe at Port Arthur fled to sound structures. The Port Arthur Red Cross prepared facilities to feed 3,000 persons after the storm passes.

Nearly 400 children at four church camps along Galveston Bay were evacuated to Baytown for shelter.

Expected rains of 4 to 8 inches could do still more damage. At Orange, the Sabine River stood at 2.4 feet above normal and was rising fast from the high tides. Most of the hurricane area is on very low ground.

All industrial plants in Orange County ceased operations.

BY 8:30 A. M., most of Orange was without electric service. By that time the wind was 70 m.p.h.

Lamar Liefer of Chatfield, Tex., apparently drowned when he was caught by a sudden strong undertow at Galveston Wednesday.

All except a few persons were evacuated from Grand Isle, resort center about 50 miles from New Orleans. Choppy waters were rushing through breaks left by the destructive Hurricane Flossy last September.

Nationalist China's official central daily news reported that at least 33 persons were killed on Formosa in floods or landslides. No Americans were among the casualties.

TAIPEI, (AP)—Action flared on both ends of the offshore island front today. The Nationalists said three Red gunboats shelled Tatan islet, near Amoy, firing more than 300 rounds. The Reds reportedly fired 191 shells from the mainland at tiny Kaoteng, most vulnerable island in the Matsu group.

Passport Denials Upheld by Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals today upheld the State Department's rights to deny passports to persons who refuse to sign non-Communist oaths.

The court ruled in the case of Dr. Walter Briehl, Los Angeles psychiatrist, and artist Rockwell Kent.

Both had refused to sign non-Communist affidavits in connection with their passport applications.

The court divided 5-3 in each case.

Theory as To Failure of Farm Aid Programs

It is not a new statement of facts but many of us in this locality have heard a considerable amount of comment, especially among Fayette County farmers, regarding what Secretary of Agriculture Benson recently pointed out to the effect that we have spent something around $12 billion dollars over a period of 25 years on federal farm aid programs without basically finding a sound remedy for the problems involved.

Benson then made the assertion, "these costs undoubtedly would be borne willingly if the programs attempted solved the problems, but they have not been solved."

Particularly of interest was his further comment that all that spending has made "little or no contribution to the problem of low income farmers."

One nationally known publication, in an editorial with reference to the Benson statement, summed up the varied reasons why federal government intervention in agriculture has been a failure over the years. The most basic of those reasons, it said, "is the assumption of farm legislators and administrators over the years that they could defy, indefinitely and with impunity, the laws of the market place."

The classic example of this was the continuation of rigid 90 per cent of parity price supports for basic crops long after the emergency conditions brought on by World War II had passed, with the vast surpluses that resulted. Summing up, the editorial says, ". . .the goal must be a gradual return to a free market in agriculture. No other conclusion, indeed, is possible."

Even in the period of arbitrary and unrealistic price supports for the basic field crops, other major crops have moved in the free market to the advantage of all concerned. The outstanding example is livestock.

There have been seasons and years when livestock prices were lower than producers liked— just as there have been seasons and years when meat prices were higher than consumers thought reasonable. But the prices, whether high or low, were determined by the natural law of supply and demand— not by fallible human beings. The meat moved into the channels of consumption and was eaten—instead of moving into storage. And the meat industry is on a sound and healthy basis.

He Prefers Summer Resort to Court

By Hal Boyle

WESTHAMPTON, N. Y. (AP) — Is a man crazy if he gives up a successful career as a lawyer to run a summer resort?

"He has to be — there's no doubt of it," amiably said Hylan Chesler, who did just that nine years ago.

His excuse is that he really didn't do it deliberately. It just kind of happened. But today the crinkly faced little former attorney, "mine host" at the Dune Deck, a fabulous gathering place for social notables and entertainment celebrities, wouldn't give a strawberry tart for all the tarts in the world.

"It's a risky thing to switch careers in midlife," he admitted. "And in the beginning I did miss the courtroom. But not now. I haven't the time."

There are two things the average man feels he can run better than those who have the job —the government and a summer resort. "Hy is no exception.

Back in 1948, when Dune Deck was put on sale, Chesler decided to buy it.

He soon found that a liking for people and a love of good food aren't enough to make a successful resort operator.

"The biggest weakness of this business," said Hy, "is that you are at the mercy of things beyond your control. A fresh waiter. . .three days of bad weather in a row. . .these things can undo all your efforts.

"One of the first things you learn is that you have to worry more about pleasing your help than you do pleasing the guests. Keeping your help happy is the real trick. If they feel wrong, you're dead. If they're happy, they'll keep the guests happy.

"The resort hotel business isn't really a business. No really smart man would risk his money in it. You simply have to take it as a way of life."

Hy and his wife Serena, a former schoolteacher, follow the sun. After the 10-week season here, they spend the winter in Andros island in the Bahamas, where they operate the equally luxurious Lighthouse Club.

Years of listening to other people's vacation woes have made Chesler, who is naturally sensitive and sympathetic, into a philosopher.

"All a man has to do to feel better is to brood more about how he can help the other fellow —then do something about it," he says.

Summer Investigations

By George Sokolsky

As soon as the most pressing bills are out of the way, congressional committees will enter upon a competition of investigations.

While none of them will be as sensational as the McCarthy-Army hearings, none will be as fruitless of results. There are not likely to be many spite investigations, although the Democrats do hope to find something which will help them in the 1958 congressional campaign.

Few of the investigations will deal with those bad boys and girls whom we call Communists. The Supreme Court has made it very difficult to do much about them and they will continue to prove a nuisance to law-enforcement officials.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and the House Un-American Activities Committee have lost their strongest weapon in the Watkins case decision which seems to me as bad law as it is bad logic.

Most of the investigations will have to do with money and business, an exceedingly complicated field, in which the investigator is as likely to pluck thistles as roses, depending upon his knowledge of economics and his capacity to grasp the essentials of business operations.

In a broader sense, these investigations may lead to the discovery that we have, during the past four or five years, moved out of the capitalist system, except for a minority of self-employed individuals, and moved into a form of fascism in which the principal partners are government, big business and big labor unionism.

These three partners seem interchangeable. The big businessman takes over control of government departments; when government officials and top military men seek a respite from service, they are absorbed by big business; and the top labor leaders have close relations with both groups, relationships which often transcend their responsibilities to their members.

Nobody designed this structure. It came into existence, to what degree we do not yet know, largely as a result of the defeat of Harry Truman's populism which he called "the fail deal."

Truman had no soical philosopher to help him, whereas President Eisenhower has at least three, all of them out of Roosevelt's "new Deal" which was a bridge between an older system and one not yet developed.

Eisenhower's three philosophers, I would name in the order of their significance, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Sidney Weinberg, the Wall Street banker who always bobs up in odd places, and Gen. Lucius Clay who is as much a social thinker as a military officer and a big businessman.

These three swing a great deal of weight in the social thinking of the Eisenhower administration.

Other students of the problem may choose other philosophers. Some will place great emphasis on the role of George Humphrey the Secretary of Treasury who is of major significance.

probably the country's leading factor in iron and coal and whose tie-up with Canada's growth is of

Put it as you please, investigations, well conducted and honestly studied, will establish that there is a tendency in this country toward monopoly; it will disclose an extraordinary role played by bankers and insurance companies; and it will disclose that the law has taken on some new characteristics that part of the practice of law is really "contracting."

That is, the principal service of these laws is neither drawing up papers nor trying cases, but to know people, and to do favors freely, so that deals may be consummated to evade or avoid the law with the benediction of the government. In an older generation, such transactions were regarded as crooked; today, whatever helps a man pay fewer taxes is regarded as legitimate.

Curiously, Herbert Hoover recognized even prior to 1929 this menace. As Prof. William A. Williams put it:

". . .It is fundamentally wrong to view Hoover either as an astute man trying to save the old order, or as an isolationist. He was trying desperately to rationalize the new order, and correct its dangeruos myopia, before it suffered the fate of individualistic capitalism."

Two wars, a depression, the relationship with Soviet Russia, and foreign aid measured not in sentimental terms but as an economic factor, made some fundamental changes in the American order.

We can see the effects of the changes, but to understand them, the sort of data a congressional committee can dig up would be helpful.

Surgery on Alcoholic Sometimes Is Risky

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Sometimes it's risky to operate on an alcoholic.

The possibility that a confirmed alcoholic will develop delirium tremens when taken to a hospital for an emergency operation is a constant hazard.

Then too, prolonged alcoholism generally results in serious nutritional deficienceis. Liver damage is frequently present.

Lessen the Risk

If there is time, the hospital may be able to correct such nutritional defects and thus lessen the operative risk

Even in non-emergency cases an alcoholic's emotional reaction to an operation must be carefully considered by the surgeon. It probably won't be the same as that of a patient not accustomed to excess drinking.

The patient's personality can also influence the outcome of the operation, as can his social circumstances.

There's another thing the surgeon must consider—anesthesia. Depending upon the physical condition of the alcoholic, the type and method of applying the anesthetic varies.

Necessary Precautions

If all these problems can be resolved and all the necessary precautions can be taken, then tha alcoholic probably presents no undue risk for surgery.

But when time is important, as it very often is, alcoholism is a definite hazard insofar as an operation is concerned.

It's just one more argument against excessive drinking.

Answer: Fever Blisters are caused by a germ too small to be seen with the ordinary microscope. Often fever blisters occur following infection or injury.

Profit Limit Held Legal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has upheld a law limiting dealers to two per cent profit on sale of automobile purchase contracts to finance companies.

The 5-2 decision affirmed Franklin County court decisions in a test suit by Glenn C. Teegarden, Troy dealer, against the Motor Vehicles Dealers' and Salesmen's Licensing Board and other state officials.

The Supreme Court said the contested statute applies to all retail dealers, including automobile dealers.

Teegarden termed the law unconstitutional because he said it deprived him of property without due process of law and does not apply to auto dealers.

Mayor-Elect Draws $50 Fine

GENEVA, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Otto Silverman, who won the Republican nomination for mayor here against incumbent Joseph P. Mallone last month, was convicted of violating Ohio election laws Tuesday. Common Pleas Judge Hugh Hewitt fined the dentist $100, suspending $50.

Silverman, who is unopposed by any Democrat, will become mayor next January. He pleaded innocent to the charge of circulating campaign literature not signed by himself or a representative of a sponsoring organization as required under Ohio law.

"Any foreign languages?" the collie barked a hearty affirmative. Haas looked pleased. "I'm glad to hear that," he enthused. "Tell me some foreign word you've learned."

The collie mewed, "Meow."

WASHINGTON (AP) — If we're lucky, in a few years we may have a nice, clean bomb which will kill just a few million people at a time, with no bad aftereffects.

President Eisenhower said it may take four or five years to get an "absolutely" clean bomb. But we're in a pickle.

We're negotiating with the Russians to stop all nuclear tests. If we do that before we learn how to make clean bombs—we're going to be stuck with a bunch of old, dirty bombs in case another war comes.

A clean bomb is one which kills only those in range of the heat and blast with no radioactive fallout. A dirty bomb kills in the immediate area with heat and blast and then kills people miles away through radioactivity carried on the winds.

So if we used dirty bombs on the Russians we'd finish a lot of them, for sure, but the winds might carry the radioactivity across Europe, killing our allies too.

Since we're in for the same thing if the Russians attack us with their dirty old bombs—before they learn how to clean them up—it might seem worthwhile to teach them how to make clean ones.

That would make it possible for us and the Russians to kill each other in a nicer way.

Those who watched Eisenhower Wednesday at his news conference said he spoke with obvious enthusiasm when he told of the possibility of clean bombs in another four or five years.

He said two eminent scientists Ernest O. Lawrence and Edward Teller—told him about it. Nevertheless, he said, this country would stand by its offer to the Russians to end nuclear tests now —under certain conditions.

But the Russians—judging from what they've said in the past about those conditions—may consider them completely impossible. So there's a good chance this country will go right on testing, trying for a clean bomb.

Not all scientists, however, agree with Lawrence and Teller. On May 27 Alvin C. Graves, a scientist at the Los Alamos atomic laboratory, told Congress there can be no such thing as a "completely clean" H-bomb.

Eisenhower, in the midst of his enthusiasm, said a clean bomb becomes "completely military in its application. If you use it on the battlefield, you will have an effect only so far as its blast and heat waves reach."

This might indicate Eisenhower thinks in another war soldiers could make it a privat3 fight among thmselves, out in the country somewhere, away from cities where civilians might get hurt.

But a gray-haired grandmother who is also a newspaperwoman, Mrs. May Craig, recalled that the only two times atomic bombs were used in war they were dropped on cities, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, killing over 110,000 people. She asked: "Our first atomic bomb was dropped on a city. When you speak of battlefields in a nuclear age, what do you mean?"

That stopped Eisenhower. He said he couldn't answer.

The bomb dropped on Hiroshima was equivalent to 15,000 tons of TNT. But this country by 1954 had built a bomb—and used it in a test—equivalent to 15 million tons of TNT. The Russians, no doubt, are making them just as big.

By setting out to make the biggest possible bomb to kill the most possible people we seem to have scared the pants off ourselves. Now we are hoping for the age of the clean bomb.

Such a weapon would let us—and the Russians too, if they had it or are interested—kill just as many people as we want to at any one time. We could get around to others later. But they'd have to wait their turn.

We may be more civilized than the Russians. For all we know, they may be content to go on making the same old dirty bombs unless we tell them how to be more genteel.

"It's a risky thing to switch careers in midlife," he admitted. "And in the beginning I did miss the courtroom. But not now. I haven't the time."

There are two things the average man feels he can run better than those who have the job —the government and a summer resort. "Hy is no exception.

Back in 1948, when Dune Deck was put on sale, Chesler decided to buy it.

He soon found that a liking for people and a love of good food aren't enough to make a successful resort operator.

"The biggest weakness of this business," said Hy, "is that you are at the mercy of things beyond your control. A fresh waiter...three days of bad weather in a row...these things can undo all your efforts.

"One of the first things you learn is that you have to worry more about pleasing your help than you do pleasing the guests. Keeping your help happy is the real trick. If they feel wrong, you're dead. If they're happy, they'll keep the guests happy.

"The resort hotel business isn't really a business. No really smart man would risk his money in it. You simply have to take it as a way of life."

Hy and his wife Serena, a former schoolteacher, follow the sun. After the 10-week season here, they spend the winter in Andros island in the Bahamas, where they operate the equally luxurious Lighthouse Club.

Years of listening to other people's vacation woes have made Chesler, who is naturally sensitive and sympathetic, into a philosopher.

"All a man has to do to feel better is to brood more about how he can help the other fellow —then do something about it," he says.

Summer Investigations

By George Sokolsky

As soon as the most pressing bills are out of the way, congressional committees will enter upon a competition of investigations.

While none of them will be as sensational as the McCarthy-Army hearings, none will be as fruitless of results. There are not likely to be many spite investigations, although the Democrats do hope to find something which will help them in the 1958 congressional campaign.

Few of the investigations will deal with those bad boys and girls whom we call Communists. The Supreme Court has made it very difficult to do much about them and they will continue to prove a nuisance to law-enforcement officials.

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee and the House Un-American Activities Committee have lost their strongest weapon in the Watkins case decision which seems to me as bad law as it is bad logic.

Most of the investigations will have to do with money and business, an exceedingly complicated field, in which the investigator is as likely to pluck thistles as roses, depending upon his knowledge of economics and his capacity to grasp the essentials of business operations.

In a broader sense, these investigations may lead to the discovery that we have, during the past four or five years, moved out of the capitalist system, except for a minority of self-employed individuals, and moved into a form of fascism in which the principal partners are government, big business and big labor unionism.

These three partners seem interchangeable. The big businessman takes over control of government departments; when government officials and top military men seek a respite from service, they are absorbed by big business; and the top labor leaders have close relations with both groups, relationships which often transcend their responsibilities to their members.

Nobody designed this structure. It came into existence, to what degree we do not yet know, largely as a result of the defeat of Harry Truman's populism which he called "the fail deal."

Truman had no soical philosopher to help him, whereas President Eisenhower has at least three, all of them out of Roosevelt's "new Deal" which was a bridge between an older system and one not yet developed.

Eisenhower's three philosophers, I would name in the order of their significance, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Sidney Weinberg, the Wall Street banker who always bobs up in odd places, and Gen. Lucius Clay who is as much a social thinker as a military officer and a big businessman.

These three swing a great deal of weight in the social thinking of the Eisenhower administration.

Other students of the problem may choose other philosophers. Some will place great emphasis on the role of George Humphrey the Secretary of Treasury who is of major significance.

probably the country's leading factor in iron and coal and whose tie-up with Canada's growth is of

Put it as you please, investigations, well conducted and honestly studied, will establish that there is a tendency in this country toward monopoly; it will disclose an extraordinary role played by bankers and insurance companies; and it will disclose that the law has taken on some new characteristics that part of the practice of law is really "contracting."

That is, the principal service of these laws is neither drawing up papers nor trying cases, but to know people, and to do favors freely, so that deals may be consummated to evade or avoid the law with the benediction of the government. In an older generation, such transactions were regarded as crooked; today, whatever helps a man pay fewer taxes is regarded as legitimate.

Curiously, Herbert Hoover recognized even prior to 1929 this menace. As Prof. William A. Williams put it:

"...It is fundamentally wrong to view Hoover either as an astute man trying to save the old order, or as an isolationist. He was trying desperately to rationalize the new order, and correct its dangeruos myopia, before it suffered the fate of individualistic capitalism."

Two wars, a depression, the relationship with Soviet Russia, and foreign aid measured not in sentimental terms but as an economic factor, made some fundamental changes in the American order.

We can see the effects of the changes, but to understand them, the sort of data a congressional committee can dig up would be helpful.

You're Telling Me

By WILLIAM RITT

As a woman tourist snapped its picture in Great Smoky Mountain National Park, a bear dashed up, snatcher her purse and made off with it. What's wrong with that?—perhaps Bruin was just collecting a modeling fee.

For several days a mynah talking bird in Clifton, N. J., has been repeating over and over, "It's warm! It's warm!" Apparently, the heat's got him too!

The Coast Guard reports there are 150 icebergs in the North Atlantic today. Too bad one of 'em can't float this way.

A British climbing team has reached within 150 feet of the snow-clad peak of Mount Macha Purchar in Nepal. At this time of year mountain climbing doesn't seem so dumb a sport.

Men lack the courage to wear brighter clothes, says the woman mayor of Bridlington, England. Guess she hasn't seen any of those new sport shirts.

With summer officially here, the days have already begun to get shorter and shorter—but not, unfortunately, cooler.

A circus elephant has been taught to dance to a rock 'n' roll tune. In this case it's probably the arena where he performs that's "all shook up."

Surgery on Alcoholic Sometimes Is Risky

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Sometimes it's risky to operate on an alcoholic.

The possibility that a confirmed alcoholic will develop delirium tremens when taken to a hospital for an emergency operation is a constant hazard.

Then too, prolonged alcoholism generally results in serious nutritional deficienceis. Liver damage is frequently present.

Lessen the Risk

If there is time, the hospital may be able to correct such nutritional defects and thus lessen the operative risk

Even in non-emergency cases an alcoholic's emotional reaction to an operation must be carefully considered by the surgeon. It probably won't be the same as that of a patient not accustomed to excess drinking.

The patient's personality can also influence the outcome of the operation, as can his social circumstances.

There's another thing the surgeon must consider—anesthesia. Depending upon the physical condition of the alcoholic, the type and method of applying the anesthetic varies.

Necessary Precautions

If all these problems can be resolved and all the necessary precautions can be taken, then tha alcoholic probably presents no undue risk for surgery.

But when time is important, as it very often is, alcoholism is a definite hazard insofar as an operation is concerned.

It's just one more argument against excessive drinking.

Answer: Fever Blisters are caused by a germ too small to be seen with the ordinary microscope. Often fever blisters occur following infection or injury.

Profit Limit Held Legal

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Supreme Court has upheld a law limiting dealers to two per cent profit on sale of automobile purchase contracts to finance companies.

The 5-2 decision affirmed Franklin County court decisions in a test suit by Glenn C. Teegarden, Troy dealer, against the Motor Vehicles Dealers' and Salesmen's Licensing Board and other state officials.

The Supreme Court said the contested statute applies to all retail dealers, including automobile dealers.

Teegarden termed the law unconstitutional because he said it deprived him of property without due process of law and does not apply to auto dealers.

Mayor-Elect Draws $50 Fine

GENEVA, Ohio (AP) — Dr. Otto Silverman, who won the Republican nomination for mayor here against incumbent Joseph P. Mallone last month, was convicted of violating Ohio election laws Tuesday. Common Pleas Judge Hugh Hewitt fined the dentist $100, suspending $50.

Silverman, who is unopposed by any Democrat, will become mayor next January. He pleaded innocent to the charge of circulating campaign literature not signed by himself or a representative of a sponsoring organization as required under Ohio law.

ROBERT HAAS, noted dog fancier, acquired one collie with such a high I.Q., Haas decided to send him to college. (Collie-rado, of course). At the end of the dog's first week there, Haas inquired, "Well, have you learned any history yet?" The dog shook his head, "no." "Any literature?" Another no.

"Any foreign languages?" the collie barked a hearty affirmative. Haas looked pleased. "I'm glad to hear that," he enthused. "Tell me some foreign word you've learned."

The collie mewed, "Meow."

The Nation Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — If we're lucky, in a few years we may have a nice, clean bomb which will kill just a few million people at a time, with no bad after-effects.

President Eisenhower said it may take four or five years to get an "absolutely" clean bomb. But we're in a pickle.

We're negotiating with the Russians to stop all nuclear tests. If we do that before we learn how to make clean bombs—we're going to be stuck with a bunch of old, dirty bombs in case another war comes.

A clean bomb is one which kills only those in range of the heat and blast, with no radioactive fallout. A dirty bomb kills in the immediate area with heat and blast and then kills people miles away through radioactivity carried on the winds.

So if we used dirty bombs on the Russians we'd finish a lot of them, for sure, but the winds might carry the radioactivity across Europe, killing our allies too.

Since we're in for the same thing if the Russians attack us with their dirty old bombs—before they learn how to clean them up—it might seem worthwhile to teach them how to make clean ones.

That would make it possible for us and the Russians to kill each other in a nicer way.

Those who watched Eisenhower Wednesday at his news conference said he spoke with obvious enthusiasm when he told of the possibility of clean bombs in another four or five years.

He said two eminent scientists Ernest O. Lawrence and Edward Teller—told him about it. Nevertheless, he said, this country would stand by its offer to the Russians to end nuclear tests now —under certain conditions.

But the Russians—judging from what they've said in the past about those conditions—may consider them completely impossible. So there's a good chance this country will go right on testing, trying for a clean bomb.

Not all scientists, however, agree with Lawrence and Teller. On May 27 Alvin C. Graves, a scientist at the Los Alamos atomic laboratory, told Congress there can be no such thing as a "completely clean" H-bomb.

Eisenhower, in the midst of his enthusiasm, said a clean bomb becomes "completely military in its application. If you use it on the battlefield, you will have an effect only so far as its blast and heat waves reach."

This might indicate Eisenhower thinks in another war soldiers could make it a privat3 fight among thmselves, out in the country somewhere, away from cities where civilians might get hurt.

But a gray-haired grandmother who is also a newspaperwoman, Mrs. May Craig, recalled that the only two times atomic bombs were used in war they were dropped on cities, Hiroshima and Nagasaki, killing over 110,000 people. She asked: "Our first atomic bomb was dropped on a city. When you speak of battlefields in a nuclear age, what do you mean?"

That stopped Eisenhower. He said he couldn't answer.

The bomb dropped on Hiroshima was equivalent to 15,000 tons of TNT. But this country by 1954 had built a bomb—and used it in a test—equivalent to 15 million tons of TNT. The Russians, no doubt, are making them just as big.

By setting out to make the biggest possible bomb to kill the most possible people we seem to have scared the pants off ourselves. Now we are hoping for the age of the clean bomb.

Such a weapon would let us—and the Russians too, if they had it or are interested—kill just as many people as we want to at any one time. We could get around to others later. But they'd have to wait their turn.

We may be more civilized than the Russians. For all we know, they may be content to go on making the same old dirty bombs unless we tell them how to be more genteel.

Battle Cry of U. S. Mayors

'Lafayette, Here We Come!'

Most tourists in Paris make the pilgrimage up the steep climb of Montmartre to take a look at the city from the steps of Sacre Coeur.

By GROVEL BRINKMAN
Central Press Assn.

PARIS, France — Among the tidal wave of American tourists to engulf Europe this summer, conservatively estimated at 700,000, will be the mayors of no less than 42 American cities and towns.

You guessed it! The mayors are from 42 American cities named after Lafayette, the young French general who fought beside George Washington in the American Revolution.

This is the 200th anniversary of Lafayette's birth, and his bicentenary is to be celebrated with all the pomp and glory due an unforgettable hero.

It seems a bit odd that all but six of our 48 states have municipalities named after Lafayette, but such is the case. Lafayette somehow ranks in hero - stature with Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Benjamin Franklin.

France has set aside the week of June 28 to July 4 as Lafayette Week, when the American mayors will be entertained in Paris and the Auvergne, Lafayette's birthplace in the heart of France. They will also be feted and wined in the old Hotel de Noailles where Marie Antoinette received the Franco - American hero upon his return from America's battlefields.

WHILE MOST American tourists to France climb the Eiffel tower, and wander through the Louvre, the American mayors will visit the off - trail spots the tourists seldom see, such as Lafayette's home on the Rue St. Honore, and Benjamin Franklin's house on the Rue Singer.

Other highlights of the tour include: Hotel Crillon, where the first Treaty of Alliance between France and the United States was signed in 1778; the statue of Lafayette and Washington by Bartholdi, sculptor of the Statue of Liberty; the Legion of Honor museum with its Franco - American room; Lafayette's grave in Picpus and the Fourteenth Century chateau, La Grange Bleneau, near Paris, where Lafayette died in 1834.

The American mayors will see the "cream of the crop" in European castles. The Lafayette tour to Auvergne heads south from Paris to Chartres and the Loire valley, where some 60 castles are clustered together in the 180 - mile stretch from Orleans to Angers.

An overnight stop in the medieval city of Tours, center of the chateau country, will be another thrill for the American city-fathers. Many of the lavish castles have been restored to their original grandeur.

Should any of our city - fathers believe in ghosts, they will be right in their realm. Ghosts of many of the old lords still haunt these old ruins, the caretakers persist.

THE WALLS OF Chaumont, for instance, recall the dark doings of Catherine of Medici. The honey-colored bulk of Chambord evokes an image of Francis I who used its 365 rooms as a hunting lodge. The whimsical towers of Chenonceaux revive memories of lovely Diane de Poitiers and Henri II. Hes sir, the city - fathers will have a lot to write home about!

A few hours south of Tours are the deep forests, blue peaks and famous mineral springs of Auvergne. Here, in these thermal waters famous since the days of the Romans, the city - dads may even boil out some of their American - acquired rheumatism.

THE TOWN OF Clermont Ferrand will be reconstructed to resemble the camp a Yorktown during the American Revolution. It will be remembered that the French fleet under Admiral de Grasse bombarded Yorktown, and troops under both Lafayette and Rochambeau fought side by side with the American soldiers under Washington.

At the medieval town of Le Puy, Lafayette was born in the Chauteau Chavaniac, a vast Seventeenth Century catle now a tourist attraction.

Our own National Guard units in the United States owe their name to Lafayette, a fact few seem to know. When the French general visited here in 1824, a regiment of the New York State militia named themselves "National Guard" after Lafayette's Garde Nationale.

Sanders Joins Crowd with TV Mysteries

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Another "mystery" series would seem to be glutting an over-crowded market on summer television.

Nevertheless, George Sanders has begun bringing us a new half-hour series via NBC-TV these Saturday evenings. While there was not much of a mystery to the first offering, it's pleasant to see Sanders speaking of murder.

His chortling, pear-shaped tones and cynically raised brows are ideally suited to discussion of all forms of mayhem. If his story material develops, this could be an entertaining series.

Jimmy Dean, who has acquired quite a following on his CBS-TV country music morning program, has entered night-time television—for the summer at least, CBS-TV Saturdays.

Either you like country music or you don't. If you like it, you presumably can tell the better from the worse. Dean and his outfit sound better to me than many I've heard. It's a fast-paced program, neatly put together. You still come back to the question: Do you like country music?

Copying the formula of "I Love Lucy," it concerns the life of a young married couple. It is badly marred by the loudest canned laughter heard in some time at situations of remarkably puerile humor.

Police Action Saves Driver

CINCINNATI (AP) — An alert policeman saved Charles A. Yeager, 30, from death or serious injury as he drove down railroad tracks toward an approaching freight train.

Patrolman David Ashley saw Yeager turn onto the tracks and frantically signalled the oncoming train to stop. It slowed down, but smashed into Yeager's car just after the man, finally sensing his situation, jumped out.

Yeager was cited on charges of reckless driving and driving while under the influence of alcohol.

He said he turned onto the tracks, believing he was turning onto another street. The incident occurred in nearby Lockland.

Rising Prices Pinch Consumer; Material, Labor Bite Profits

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — At midyear they've stopped talking about the boom — if by boom you mean business climbing higher in a hurry.

Today business men say, depending on which line they're in, "business is pretty good and should pick up in the fall," or "business is slow with us now and we're cutting back a little more, but the worst seems over, or should be soon."

The first half of 1957 saw wide and sudden swings in business sentiment. Worry over the future and confidence in the future stepped on each other's heels as they changed places in the business parade and in the stock market.

But the over-all statistics didn't justify either extreme. The gains were moderate, compared with recent years. The losses were, too, in most lines.

Still rising prices pinch the consumer, particularly the one whose income isn't rising. Still rising costs of labor and materials pinch the profit margin of the businessman, particularly where competition is keen enough to keep him from passing all his increased costs along to his customers.

It's been an up and down year, with the ups and downs thoroughly scrambled. More or less painfully adjusting to new patterns of consumer buying have been the makers of autos, farm implements, household appliances, the builders of homes. Also adjusting have been the industries that supply manufacturers, who in most cases have been busily trimming their inventories and skimping on new orders.

Producers of copper, lead and zinc have been slashing prices in a vain attempt, so far, to find more buyers. On the other hand, steel and aluminum makers are getting set to hike their prices, citing upcoming wage boosts.

Taking the high road in the economy are those who supply the various governments, whose spending has been increasing: As home building slid, public building gained, and business itself has kept up its spending on new plants and equipment. The consumer has gone on spending most of the money he can lay hands on for soft goods and increasingly for services of all kinds.

Price rises color all the statistics.

Personal income totals have climbed slowly all year—but for many individuals that isn't so. Wage scales continue their general tendency to rise, but employment in manufacturing companies is off a little and work weeks are shrinking. The average weekly take home pay of factory workers hasn't risen as fast of late as the cost of living.

Other segments of personal income have been rising. Dividend payments are up, interest payments are higher, rents creep higher here and there, fees for services rise, and the total paid out as social security benefits has taken a sizable spurt.

Tomorrow: The outlook for the consumer and the businessman in the next six months.

Examiners Report Shortage In Books of Ex-Court Clerk

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State examiners today reported a $3,781 shortage in accounts of Virgil V. Brown, Meigs County clerk of courts who resigned Oct. 15, 1955, during his second term.

State Auditor James A. Rhodes said the shortage was uncovered during an audit of office accounts for the period between July 1, 1950 and last Jan. 31. The report was submitted to the county prosecutor for action.

An additional finding for $356 was returned against Brown's successor, Mrs. Evelyn Lucke, who made payment.

"When Mrs. Lucke assumed the office of clerk of courts," the examiner's report said, "she had no starting point as to the cash balance, the amount of checks outstanding or the condition of funds."

Examiners criticized "loose" handling of cash by Brown. They noted that in one instance fees collected in September, 1951, were not paid into the county treasury until January, 1955.

A previous examination of Brown's office in 1950 brought a finding of $205 in interest on funds delayed in deposit.

Examiners said recommendations for putting office accounts in order have been adopted and that the books are in balance.

There are many kinds of trees in the city, with two or three kinds of maples leading all others in numbers and furnishing shade as well as beauty.

For instance, on the Carnegie Library grounds, there are no less than five hackberry trees on the back part of the lot, and the amazing thing is that only one of them has "witches brooms" on the branches. "witches brooms" are clusters of twigs about knots on the branches. Nearly all hackberry trees have them.

Also on the back of the lot is a "Wild Goose" plum tree (with plums on it) two pawpaw bushes, an alder bush, and a large walnut tree.

On the north side is a mimosa tree from Maryville, Tenn., and a cluster of spirea.

On the south side of the library is a dogwood tree, and two maples stand on the adjacent grassplot.

On the grassplot in front are three linden trees, with a Japanese cherry tree near the south side of the former steps of the building.

Another formerly stood on the north side of the steps but it died a year or two ago. Some evergrees near the cherry trees also died during the past few years.

And there are two persimmon trees growing on the lawn at the former W. W. Hamilton home, at the wast end of East St., now owned by Rollo Marchant.

"A BEACON OF LIGHT"

Eighty years ago James Madison Baughn donated the ground for Harmony Methodist Church. That was on Sept. 8, 1877, I am informed by Mrs. George W. Morris, 6843 Foulois Drive, Dayton, a granddaughter.

Services at Harmony Church were discontinued May 19, and the church, an attractive white frame structure, has taken its place along with the many other rural houses of worship which have been abandoned over a period of years.

Mrs. Morris recalls that when the late Rev. A. E. Huntington conducted funeral services in the church for Alonzo E. Baughn, son of James Madison Baughn he paid the following tribute to the donor of the land for the church:

"This little church stands as a beacon of light, and even when no services are held inside. It still stands as a beacon of light, and I believe that must have been what brother Baughn had in mind when he donated the ground for this little church."

Harmony Church stands at the crossing of the Palmer Rd., and Harmony Rd.

I appreciate the information furnished by Mrs. Morris, and fully agree with the Rev. Mr. Huntington, whom I knew well, that the church itself is a real "beacon of light," even though it is now closed as a place of worship.

BIG CREEKS, NO RIVERS

I believe those early residents of this part of Ohio neglected us when they called all of the streams, little and big, "creeks" instead of the larger streams being called rivers.

For instance I have seen some of the headwaters of rivers, such as the Wabash, which starts in western Ohio not far from Celina, so small that one could step across them ,and yet they distinctly bear the title of river, although they are little more than open ditches at their beginning.

Take Rattlesnake Creek, Paint Creek and Deer Creek, which pass through Fayette County. All are much larger than many of the so-called rivers.

The Blanchard River, made famous by the song, "Down by the Old Mill Stream", is no larger than the three largest creeks in Fayette County over most of its course.

As Paint Creek picks up the various streams enroute to the Scioto river, it becomes a very sizeable river. Its main tributaries are East Fork and North Fork, Compton Creek, Sugar Creek, Rattlesnake Creek and Rocky Fork Creek.

Paint Creek has its beginning in Madison County, southwest of London, at a point near U. S. 42, and North Fork and East Fork also begin in southern Madison County.

Paint Creek covers a straight line course of between 65 and 70 miles, but taking into consideration its many turns and meandering generally, it is probably well over 100 miles in length, and drains a vast amount of territory.

LIGHTS CHANGE

Approximately 98 per cent of all residences in Fayette County are lighted by electricity which also carries power into the same homes for operating many labor saving devices.

But turn back the pages of history in this community, to the time when bear grease and grease from other wild animals, furnished light in the log cabin homes.

Crude grease—burning lamps, chiefly hand-made of tin, held the grease, and fiber was used for wicks. These crude lamps were usually placed on pegs in the walls, or suspended from the ceiling.

Some of the early iron grease or oil-burning lamps had spikes attached which were stuck in the log walls to support the lamps.

Deer, bear, buffalo and wild turkeys furnished most of the grease used in the early lamps.

Later candles were also made of the fat of the wild animals until tallow could be obtained from cattle grown on the farm.

These dim, flickering lights from grease cast a limited light about the dingy rooms, which barely enabled the early settlers to see to eat their meals and do the homely chores. Those who were able to read, also managed by the dim lights.

Then, many years afterward, the "coal oil" or kerosene lamps came into use, and these were much better light producers.

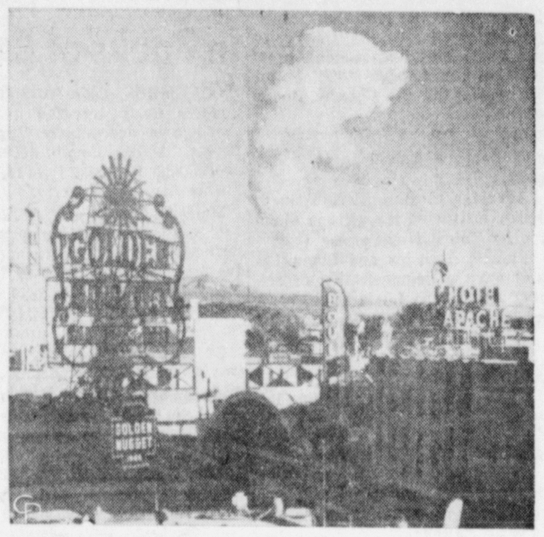

Now the bright lights shining from nearly every home dot the countryside where once it was impossible to see the glow coming through greased paper windows, and later glass windows, for more than a few hundred yards at best.

Eighty years ago James Madison Baughn donated the ground for Harmony Methodist Church. That was on Sept. 8, 1877, I am informed by Mrs. George W. Morris, 6843 Foulois Drive, Dayton, a granddaughter.

Services at Harmony Church were discontinued May 19, and the church, an attractive white frame structure, has taken its place along with the many other rural houses of worship which have been abandoned over a period of years.

Mrs. Morris recalls that when the late Rev. A. E. Huntington conducted funeral services in the church for Alonzo E. Baughn, son of James Madison Baughn he paid the following tribute to the donor of the land for the church:

"This little church stands as a beacon of light, and even when no services are held inside. It still stands as a beacon of light, and I believe that must have been what brother Baughn had in mind when he donated the ground for this little church."

Harmony Church stands at the crossing of the Palmer Rd., and Harmony Rd.

I appreciate the information furnished by Mrs. Morris, and fully agree with the Rev. Mr. Huntington, whom I knew well, that the church itself is a real "beacon of light," even though it is now closed as a place of worship.

BIG CREEKS, NO RIVERS

I believe those early residents of this part of Ohio neglected us when they called all of the streams, little and big, "creeks" instead of the larger streams being called rivers.

For instance I have seen some of the headwaters of rivers, such as the Wabash, which starts in western Ohio not far from Celina, so small that one could step across them ,and yet they distinctly bear the title of river, although they are little more than open ditches at their beginning.

Take Rattlesnake Creek, Paint Creek and Deer Creek, which pass through Fayette County. All are much larger than many of the so-called rivers.

The Blanchard River, made famous by the song, "Down by the Old Mill Stream", is no larger than the three largest creeks in Fayette County over most of its course.

As Paint Creek picks up the various streams enroute to the Scioto river, it becomes a very sizeable river. Its main tributaries are East Fork and North Fork, Compton Creek, Sugar Creek, Rattlesnake Creek and Rocky Fork Creek.

Paint Creek has its beginning in Madison County, southwest of London, at a point near U. S. 42, and North Fork and East Fork also begin in southern Madison County.

Paint Creek covers a straight line course of between 65 and 70 miles, but taking into consideration its many turns and meandering generally, it is probably well over 100 miles in length, and drains a vast amount of territory.

LIGHTS CHANGE

Approximately 98 per cent of all residences in Fayette County are lighted by electricity which also carries power into the same homes for operating many labor saving devices.

But turn back the pages of history in this community, to the time when bear grease and grease from other wild animals, furnished light in the log cabin homes.

Crude grease—burning lamps, chiefly hand-made of tin, held the grease, and fiber was used for wicks. These crude lamps were usually placed on pegs in the walls, or suspended from the ceiling.

Some of the early iron grease or oil-burning lamps had spikes attached which were stuck in the log walls to support the lamps.

Deer, bear, buffalo and wild turkeys furnished most of the grease used in the early lamps.

Later candles were also made of the fat of the wild animals until tallow could be obtained from cattle grown on the farm.

These dim, flickering lights from grease cast a limited light about the dingy rooms, which barely enabled the early settlers to see to eat their meals and do the homely chores. Those who were able to read, also managed by the dim lights.

Then, many years afterward, the "coal oil" or kerosene lamps came into use, and these were much better light producers.

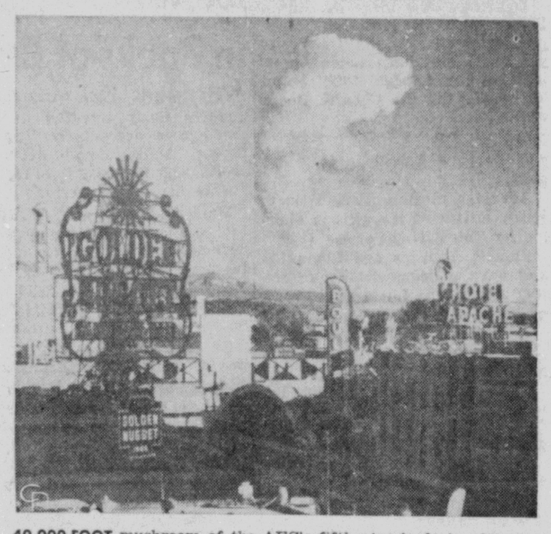

Now the bright lights shining from nearly every home dot the countryside where once it was impossible to see the glow coming through greased paper windows, and later glass windows, for more than a few hundred yards at best.

Taft's Views on School Aid Quoted To Back Ike's Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert A. Taft's views were quoted today to back up President Eisenhower's school aid program in Congress.

Rep. Frelinghuysen (R-NJ) noted that the President recently said the late Ohio senator had helped influence him in favor of aid to education.

This, said Frelinghuysen, prompted an "angry" letter from a constituent who complained that this type of program was "alien to (Taft's) entire philosophy."

In answer, Frelinghuysen in a letter to constituents, quoted from a speech Taft made in the Senate March 24, 1948, during debate.

Excerpts from the Taft speech:

"I . . . see no way to meet the condition which now exists regarding illiteracy in the United States and lack of education in the United States without some federal assistance. . . .

"Fundamentally, Mr. President, I think we have a tremendous obligation to provide equality of opportunity to the children of the United States. . . .

"I quite agree that the primary obligation to educate children is in the states and local communities. . . .

"The difficulty with our tax system is that the states have limited powers of taxation, and that, particularly in the poorer states, they have very limited sources of taxation."

Actually, Frelinghuysen said, Taft went beyond President Eisenhower's proposal of aid for school construction by supporting aid for operation and maintenance.

The letter from his constituent, he said, "brought out the remarkable fact that many people, even his ardent admirers, did not really understand Sen. Taft's political philosophy."

Alien Census Up 7.5 Pct.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Last January's census of aliens in the United States showed a total of 2,833,732, up nearly 7.5 per cent from the previous year, and with the usual concentrations in the Coastal and Great Lakes states, the Immigration Service reported today.

Ohio's total registration was 113,583, ranging from 54,826 in the state's biggest population county, Cuyahoga, to only 4 in Meigs County.

The total included 16,850 Germans, 16,406 from Great Britain and Canada, 3,117 Greek, 11,190 Italian, 12,761 Poles, 2,170 from the U.S.S.R., 549 Chinese, 1,549 Mexicans and 48,991 in other nationalities.

Some of the other alien registrations included: Allen, 295, Ashland 119, Ashtabula 1,295, Athens 213, Butler 500, Champaign 38, Clark 684, Clermont 195, Clinton 81, Columbiana 594, Darke 87, Defiance 130, Erie 453, Fairfield 84, Fayette 21, Franklin 4,767.

Clips Barber For Urchin

UNION CITY, N. J. (AP)—A man came into Jerry Provitero's barber shop and asked for "the works" a haircut, shave and shampoo.

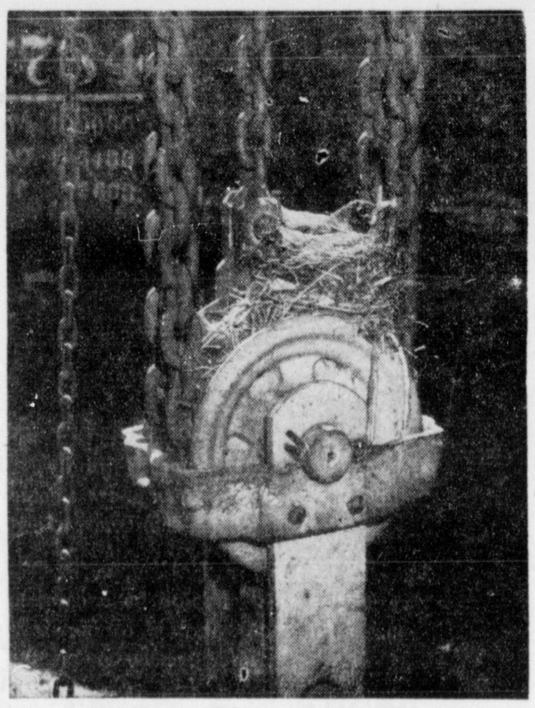

After stepping down from the chair, he turned to a youngster waiting his turn and said, "Wait here for me after you get your haircut." Then he walked out of the shop.

Provitero clipped the lad's hair, and, after finishing the job, asked him where his father was.

The boy burst into tears. "That man wasn't my father. He met me on the street and said I needed a haircut. I don't have any money."

Provitero dried the boy's tears and sent him home.

Opposition Mild At Freeway Hearing

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Major opposition to the proposed route of the Cincinnati-to-Conneaut Freeway through Richland, Ashland Wayne and Medina counties failed to develop at a State Highway Department hearing here Wednesday. The only objection to the proposed route itself came from Medina residents who suggested it be put west instead of east of that city. Ashland witnesses suggested that an interchange for Ohio 60 be eliminated in favor of an interchange on U. S. 250.

Opposition Mild At Freeway Hearing

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP)—Major opposition to the proposed route of the Cincinnati-to-Conneaut Freeway through Richland, Ashland Wayne and Medina counties failed to develop at a State Highway Department hearing here Wednesday. The only objection to the proposed route itself came from Medina residents who suggested it be put west instead of east of that city. Ashland witnesses suggested that an interchange for Ohio 60 be eliminated in favor of an interchange on U. S. 250.

Hospital Report

amount was $77,950 No interest or penalty has been assessed against the hospital.

(Members of the board point out that the trip to Cincinnati was made immediately after the examiner had verified that the withholding tax had not been paid and that the funds were on hand to pay it.)

The report also says:

Delayed remittances to the Public Employes Retirement System of withholdings made from employes' 1955 earnings resulted in lost interest to such employes, since interest is paid by the retirement board once a year, at the end of the year, based on the preceding year's balance."

"Likewise at the end of 1957 the employes will lose interest on the delayed 1956 payments."

The examiner warned that it is imperative that the hospital's business office be prompt in forwarding withholdings.

The long document includes a detailed account of financial transactions, balance sheets and profit and loss statements. Copies have been received by the Board of County Commissioners, the hospital's Board of Trustees and County Prosecutor Rollo Marchant, the hospital's attorney by statute.

NET FUNDS on deposit on March 24 amounted to $75,920.51, the report states. Total accounts receivable are listed as $74,554.92. The inventory of supplies totals $23,728.49. Hospital land, buildings and equipment are valued at $646,658.89. Total assets are listed as $846,056.11. Outstanding bonded indebtedness is $174,000.

The hospital's balance sheet on March 24 showed a net profit to date this year of $12,767.87. Figures for 1956 showed a net loss of $36,766.01; 1955, net loss, $15,408.85.

Total income from patients is listed as follows: 1954, $362,000.08; 1955, $414,496.12; 1956, $459,725.54; 1957, to date, $121,445.60.

At the closing date of the audit the hospital administrator was receiving $625 per month while Miss Maxine Gilmerr, office manager, was receiving $275.

The report states that on March 24, 1957, the hospital had an account of $112.327.62 in the Washington Savings Bank, of which $62,327.62 was unsecured by collateral or by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corp., and $5,062.22 in the First National Bank which was secured by FDIC.

THE EXAMINER noted that the amount of the deposit must be covered by sufficient security and that no deposit should be made by hospital officials until a depository has furnished sufficient security.

Among other suggestions made by the examiner are:

That when new board appointments are made, one member should be appointed for a four-year term ending March 1, 1964, to eliminate the simultaneous termination of the terms of two board members;

That trustees furnish bond in such sums as are prescribed by county commissioners, the report pointing out that trustees have not been furnishing bond as required by statute;

That a reserve for doubtful accounts receivable be set up in order that the asset account not be overstated. That when accounts are written off they be charged to the reserve account, but that this should be done only on approval of the Board of Trustees and the Board of County Commissioners;

That an equipment and depreciation register be set up;

That no more IOUs or post-dated checks be cashed for employes;

That the hospital keep an insurance register on policies in force.

THE EXAMINER suggests that receipts be deposited daily instead of irregularly as in the past and he strongly urges a monthly reconciliation of the bank balance, adding:

"This would include the preparation of a checks outstanding list. Our audit disclosed that no payroll account outstanding list has been prepared since Jun 30, 1956, the last outstanding list for the working capital account was June 30, 1954. Such laxity is inexcusable on the part of the bookkeeping and accounting office."

Referring to accounting records the report says:

"No ledger o the accounts has been kept. The keeping of such a ledger as a permanent record would facilitate the handling and balancing of accounts and the preparation of formal financial statements."

"The receipts accounting is cumbersome in failing to use fully all the accounting benefits available. The amount received from Blue Cross and the Industrial Commission should be posted as one receipt item on the journal and the detailed analysis sheet (prepared and received from Blue Cross and the Industrial Commission) should be preserved in a binder kept for that purpose. We must be critical of the fact that such analysis sheets of 1957 only are on hand and that the sheets for the years prior thereto have been destroyed."

"Whenever funds are transferred from the special trust accounts to the working capital, a receipt should be prepared and entered on the cash journal."

"The check disbursement journal omitted a number of checks. This type of uncorrected error would be eliminated by monthly reconciliations of the bank statement."

The bill file is kept in a very orderly manner."

Pointing out that vouchers do not bear the signatures of trustees and that the minutes only refer to a resolution of the board of trustees that bills be allowed for payment, the examiner says:

". . .it is necessary that first the bills be approved for final payment by the board at a meeting, then listed in their minutes and finally signed by the administrator and two trustees before the check is issued in payment thereof."

MEMBERS OF the board of trustees state that new accounting records and procedures have been fully adopted and are in operation in line with recommenations made by the state examiner from the office of Auditor of State James A. Rhodes.

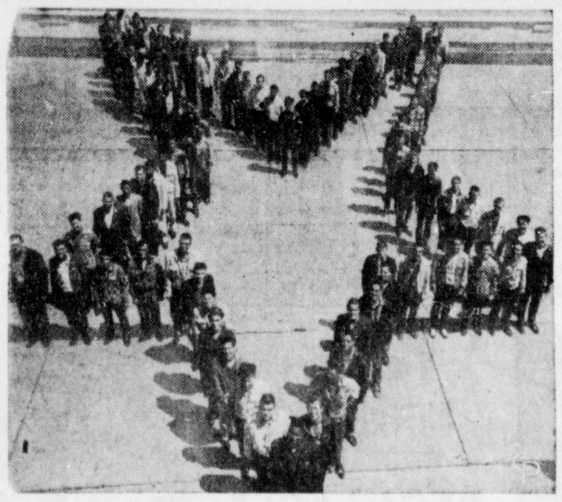

They also point out that when the hospital trustees took over full custody of the institution and its financial transactions, from the county on January 1, 1954, to comply with a new state law, there was some confusion as to the various reponsibilities to be assumed by officials of thehospital and also by various county officials as to technical legal requirements.

All of these have now been cleared up. they point out.

It is unusual for a contingent of "men-o-warsmen" from any one locality to be kept intact for training in the basic skills required of sea - going men— sometimes termed "boot training"—but the center commander, Capt. Albert C. Burrows, points out that Texas generally is conceded to be a state where unusual things happen. and that besides, this is a special time at Great Lakes.

Saxbe Feels Attorneys Step Out of Bounds

SUN VALLEY, Idaho (AP)—Atty Gen. William Saxbe, representin Ohio at the 51st annual conference of the National Assn. of Attorneys General, Wednesday voted against two resolutions calling for legislation dealing with internal security control and state vs federal jurisdiction.

Both passed.

One urged enactment of legislation "designed to reaffirm and reactive federal and state internal security control." The other endorsed legislation requiring "that no future act of Congress shall be considered to exclude any state laws on the subject matter unless such congressional act contains an express provision to that effect."

Saxbe, named an executive committee member at large, attempted to sidetrack discussion of the resolutions.

"As an organization, I feel our activities should be limited to those that affect our offices," he said. "I think we are moving into a field where we have no damn' business."

Irate Farmer Fires at Plane

LOCKHART, Tex (AP)—The third time an Army liaison plane buzzed him while he walked in his field, farmer Robert Lee Bartling said he picked up his .410 gauge shotgun and blasted the small craft full of buckshot.

Bartling, 35, was charged Wednesday in the court of Justice of the Peace W. H. Hill with firing a weapon into an airplane.

The craft, a small L-19 single-engine plane, returned to Camp Gary Army field near San Marcos in central Texas, a distance of 18 miles. Its flaps were damaged and buckshot was imbedded in the fuselage. The pilot was not hurt.

Rail Safety Lessons Shown In New B & O Film Production

School children throughout the 13-state Baltimore and Ohio Railroad system will soon be seeing the newest in a series of safety education films prepared under the direction of the B&O's Safety Department.

Entitled "Otto Nobetter And The Railroad Gang," the film is the fourth safety film to be produced by the railroad since 1950, and is intended for showing before elementary and junior high school groups.

In brief, the new film, like its predecessors in the series, depicts the dangers of playing near railroads and of damaging railroad property.

An animated color cartoon film, "Otto Nobetter And The Railroad

Keep Off Railroad Tracks

Gang," features the introduction of a new safety song, designed to be easily memorized by the youngsters who see the film.

The title song, "Otto Nobetter" is the composition of Ruth and Ruby Simmons, formerly known as the Moonmaids of the Vaughan Monroe Orchestra.

THE NEW FILM runs just under 14 minutes, and each viewer is given a copy of a 16-page brochure which tells again the story of the film and sets out the safety rules of the railroad for parents and children.

I'll never put anything on the railroad track or hang on a railroad gate.

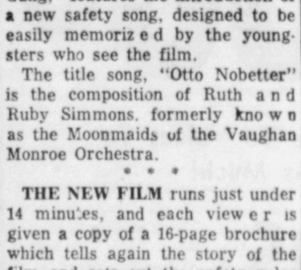

I'll always cross at public crossings and obey the signs of life.

I'll never play in a railroad yard.

I'll never throw a stone at a train or a signal, and I'll never play with switches.

SINCE the establishment of the B&O's School Safety Program in 1950, more than four million school children in 11,000 schools have been told the railroad's safety message.

Each year, 15 members of the railroad's police are assigned to man the program, deliver safety messages and supervise film showings.

In all, B&O safety films have been given 19,148 showings, and five million copies of the railroad's safety brochures have been distributed to school children.

The new film, together with its predecessors, "The Happy Locomotive," "Close Call For Jimmy," and "Hooray For Homer," is available to school groups on loan and without charge from the Safety Department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Bootleg Term Must Be Served, Judge Rules

CLEVELAND (AP)—A 66-year-old grandfather must serve a prison term for bootlegging 30 years ago, a federal judge has ruled.

Judge Paul Jones said he could not revoke the 14-month sentence Harry Gellman received here in 1927. Gellman had pleaded guilty to a violation of the Volstead Act, but disappeared when released on $5,000 bond to give him time to wind up his affairs before entering prison.

After he jumped bond, federal agents traced him to Havana, Cuba, but then lost the trail. April 15, they located him in St Paul, Minn.

He had lived there for years, under his own name, and was employed as a novelty salesman.

'Free' Mighty Luring Word

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—A man adjudged a bankrupt was being questioned here regarding his purchase of a new automobile. Payments on the car, the commissioner said, would have equalled the man's weekly take-home pay.

"Oh," said the bankrupt, "I didn't want the car. They were giving a free ham with every car they sold."

From Classic Role Comes Elvis Fan

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's hard to imagine, but Claire Bloom, English beauty of "Romeo and Juliet" and other classics, is a fan of Elvis Presley.

"I love his singing, he has real rhythm," enthused the dark-haired actress. Since she was working at MGM in "The Brothers Karamazov" while he was in "Jailhouse Rock" (now there's a study in contrasts!), a meeting was arranged.

The meeting was a classic. Elvis came forward eagerly, grasped Miss Bloom's hand in both of his and murmured, "hello, honey, how old are you?"

The actress said she was so taken aback, she blurted. "Oh, much older than you."

"Why, honey, you don't look much older than a teen-ager." He pondered a moment and added: "but then you never can tell. Some of the crew on this picture look like young men, but they're 75 and 80 years old."

"That spoiled it!" Miss Bloom laughed as she told the story later. Her status as a Presley fan was shaken somewhat, but she confessed she still likes him—on records. And she added that she is 3½ years older than his 22.

"The Brothers etc." is her first film for a major Hollywood studio, but not her first in Hollywood. She made her debut in Hollywood a few years ago as Charlie Chaplin's leading lady in his last Hollywood film, "Limelight."

Now she's back to play the fiancee of Yul Brynner. She destroys him in "The Brothers" after she is spurned for Grusheka (Maria Schell).

Her first big break was playing Ophelia in a Stratford-at-Avon production of "Hamlet." She became one of England's finest young actresses, performing in many classics for the Old Vic Company. She starred with the Old Vic in New York last season. Her biggest exposure before American audiences was repeating her "Romeo and Juliet" performance on NBC-TV.

Arbalest Illegal Is Michigan Law

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan law makers forgot about the slingshot in declaring numerous mechanical devices illegal for killing game.

But they specifically banned the arbalest — a device used in the Middle Ages to throw arrows or shot.

Asked for an official ruling on the slingshot, Michigan's attorney general declared it was just as illegal as an arbalest.

Search for Oil Doesn't Stop Farm Work, Even at Actual Site of Kewanee Test Well

FARM WORK PROCEEDS as usual on Edward Hopkins farm where a test for oil and gas is now being made. Dorcie Newbrey places baled hay on loader for storing in barn loft.

By B. E. KELLEY

While farmers are awaiting with deep interest the results of tests for oil and gas now being made in Fayette County, they are not allowing this "watchful waiting" and the prospect or possible income from oil and gas rights, to interfere with their normal work.

That is true on the Edwards Hopkins farm, where the test well is located.

The hogs are grunting in contentment in an adjacent clover field, cattle are on pasture nearby, corn cultivation is proceeding as usual, and harvesting hay has been completed.

Nearby is the constant noise of has been progressing day and drilling or changing bits, which night since the first tool was started down on May 12.

PART OF THE HAY, on the Hopkins farm, which suffered from too much rain, was dried baled and ricked in a field north of the drilling rig.

Work of cutting, curing, baling and storing in a barn 200 yards south of the well, was completed on schedule.

Present day methods of handling hay and storing it are quite different from those before gasoline and electric motors came into general use and before modern labor saving machinery was invented.

One man, Dorcie Newbrey, with a hook or quick handling of the bales of hay, unloaded from a rubber-tired wagon which had been pulled by a farm tractor, and two men were kept busy placing the baled hay in position in the hayloft.

Years ago the most modern method of mowing hay was a hayfork which picked up large quantities of hay, and carried it by block and tackle and a runway into the hayloft where it was dropped by pulling a rope.

PRIOR to that pitchforks were used to unload the loose hay from the wagon, into the hayloft, where one or two men with forks moved it to where it was to be stored.

Both of these jobs were tough during hot weather when a boiling sun was beating down so that the metal roof of the barn was so hot one could not hold their hand in it.

Haylofts with 110 degree temperatures were not uncommon.

Justice Retires, but Keeps On with Same Daily Routine

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Stanley F. Reed stepped down from the U. S. Supreme Court last February after 19 years service but retirement has barely caused a ripple in his daily routine.

"He goes over to his office at the court every day, even on Sundays," says Mrs. Reed with mild amusement. "He keeps the same hours. He doesn't work nights; that's the only difference."

In the old days, Mrs. Reed explained, the justice used to go back to the court at night unless she took him off to a social function.

"I always thought the change from his work would do him good," she told me as we sat in the homey, antique-filled living room of the mid-town hotel apartment they have occupied for 27 years.

The 73-year-old justice retired, his wife said, because he "thought the great pressure of having to read much on both sides before writing an opinion on a case before the Court was a little too hard on him."

"He thought it better to move down so that a younger man who could do more could be appointed to his place," she added. "He still reads a great deal, mostly in preparation for speeches he's making all over the country. Whatever he does he goes into in a big way. He's out of the house every morning by 9:30 and doesn't return until after 7 p. m., and he still walks to the court as he always did. He used to be a runner in his college days."

Under the retirement law, Reed is still a member of the court and subject to call to act as a judge in any federal court. At the court, Reed shares an office suite with Justice Sherman Minton, who retired in 1956.

The Reeds, among the capital's most popular official couples, still keep up their active social life. Mrs. Reed has often been called the "Mona Lisa of Washington Society" because of her slow enigmatic smile. Her interests are centered around her husband, their sons and grandchildren. Both John A. and Stanley F. Reed Jr., are lawyers practicing in New York. Stanley has three youngsters, Stanley F. Reed III, 7, Gurnee 3, and Harriett, 2.

Rites Complete Church Merger

CLEVELAND (AP)—A major new church — molded of the diverse elements of two historic old denominations has emerged on the American scene.

Search for Oil Doesn't Stop Farm Work, Even at Actual Site of Kewanee Test Well

FARM WORK PROCEEDS as usual on Edward Hopkins farm where a test for oil and gas is now being made. Dorcie Newbrey places baled hay on loader for storing in barn loft.

By B. E. KELLEY

While farmers are awaiting with deep interest the results of tests for oil and gas now being made in Fayette County, they are not allowing this "watchful waiting" and the prospect or possible income from oil and gas rights, to interfere with their normal work.

That is true on the Edwards Hopkins farm, where the test well is located.

The hogs are grunting in contentment in an adjacent clover field, cattle are on pasture nearby, corn cultivation is proceeding as usual, and harvesting hay has been completed.

Nearby is the constant noise of has been progressing day and drilling or changing bits, which night since the first tool was started down on May 12.

PART OF THE HAY, on the Hopkins farm, which suffered from too much rain, was dried baled and ricked in a field north of the drilling rig.

Work of cutting, curing, baling and storing in a barn 200 yards south of the well, was completed on schedule.

Present day methods of handling hay and storing it are quite different from those before gasoline and electric motors came into general use and before modern labor saving machinery was invented.

One man, Dorcie Newbrey, with a hook for quick handling of the bales of hay, unloaded from a rubber-tired wagon which had been pulled by a farm tractor, and two men were kept busy placing the baled hay in position in the hayloft.

Years ago the most modern method of mowing hay was a hayfork which picked up large quantities of hay, and carried it by block and tackle and a runway into the hayloft where it was dropped by pulling a rope.

PRIOR to that pitchforks were used to unload the loose hay from the wagon, into the hayloft, where one or two men with forks moved it to where it was to be stored.

Both of these jobs were tough during hot weather when a boiling sun was beating down so that the metal roof of the barn was so hot one could not hold their hand in it.

Haylofts with 110 degree temperatures were not uncommon.

Justice Retires, but Keeps On with Same Daily Routine

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Stanley F. Reed stepped down from the U. S. Supreme Court last February after 19 years service but retirement has barely caused a ripple in his daily routine.

"He goes over to his office at the court every day, even on Sundays," says Mrs. Reed with mild amusement. "He keeps the same hours. He doesn't work nights; that's the only difference."

In the old days, Mrs. Reed explained, the justice used to go back to the court at night unless she took him off to a social function.

"I always thought the change from his work would do him good," she told me as we sat in the homey, antique-filled living room of the mid-town hotel apartment they have occupied for 27 years.

The 73-year-old justice retired, his wife said, because he "thought the great pressure of having to read much on both sides before writing an opinion on a case before the Court was a little too hard on him."

"He thought it better to move down so that a younger man who could do more could be appointed to his place," she added. "He still reads a great deal, mostly in preparation for speeches he's making all over the country. Whatever he does he goes into in a big way. He's out of the house every morning by 9:30 and doesn't return until after 7 p. m., and he still walks to the court as he always did. He used to be a runner in his college days."

Under the retirement law, Reed is still a member of the court and subject to call to act as a judge in any federal court. At the court, Reed shares an office suite with Justice Sherman Minton, who retired in 1956.

The Reeds, among the capital's most popular official couples, still keep up their active social life. Mrs. Reed has often been called the "Mona Lisa of Washington Society" because of her slow enigmatic smile. Her interests are centered around her husband, their sons and grandchildren. Both John A. and Stanley F. Reed Jr., are lawyers practicing in New York. Stanley has three youngsters, Stanley F. Reed III, 7, Gurnee 3, and Harriett, 2.

Rites Complete Church Merger

CLEVELAND (AP)—A major new church — molded of the diverse elements of two historic old denominations has emerged on the American scene.

President Eisenhower sent his commendations, saying:

"Now, together, your services to God and neighbor will gain new strength and inspiration."

Merged into a single communion were the national bodies of the Congregational Chrisiatn Churches and the Evangelical and Reformed Church.

Affected are about 1,400,000 Congregationalists and 800,000 E. & R. Church members in 8,311 congregations across the country.

Their new denomination: The United Chruch of Christ.

It was ushered into being Tuesday night with pomp and worship and solemn vows.

Pole Crushes Worker

NORWALK, Ohio (AP)—James C. Watson, 24, of Ashland was killed when a 45-foot utility pole on which he was working squeezed out of loose dirt at its base and toppled over. He was an employe of the Collier Construction Co. of Strongville.

Cemetery Bond Issue Proposal To Be Submitted

Union Twp. Voters To Make Decision on Expansion Program

A proposal for an $8,000 bond issue to purchase and improve additional land for the Washington Cemetery will be submitted to the voters of Union Township at the election next November.

A resolution to place the proposal on the ballot was adopted by the Union Township trustees at their regular meeting, after consulting with Prosecutor Rollo M. Marchant, the legal advisor of the board.

This will be a resubmission of a proposal which was turned down by the voters last November. It represents the township's share of a proposed $25,000 expansion program.

The city, which shares operation of the cemetery with the township, will pay $17,000 of the total cost.

A 9½ ACRE TRACT, which joins the west side of the cemetery, already has been purchased by the city for $10,000. The tract was purchased when it was decided that the available land should be acquired without delay, because the cemetery can be expanded only to the west. Expansion is blocked on the other three sides by the East Fork of Paint Creek, the Pennsylvania Railroad and U. S. Highway 22.

The tract was purchased by the city when the township trustees gave assurance that the township would find a way to pay two-fifths of the cost of the land and the improvement.

Herbert Clickner, chairman of the Board of Union Township Trustees, explained that the improvements, calculated to cost around $15,000, included platting the tract for lots, putting in driveways and a drainage system and grading. Other members of the board are James Baughn Sr. and James McWilliams. Harry Campbell is the clerk.

The cemetery affairs are administered by a board which includes both township trustees and representatives of the city council.

Change Roles With Years, Joel Advises

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Act your age, Joel McCrea advises his fellow leading men of the veteran category.

Joel, 51, has been a screen luminary for more than 25 years and his earning power shows no sign of diminishing. Part of this is due to the force of his own personality and acting skill. But it's also the result of careful planning. He is one of Hollywood's wisest heads on career matters.

"I think actors of my vintage make a mistake in trying to appear much younger than they are," he observed. "Let's face it — we're getting up there. But that doesn't mean we have to quit.

"We can stay in business as long as we don't try to fool anyone. It's a mistake to attempt playing passionate love scenes with a girl who is young enough to be your daughter — or to try to impersonate a dashing hero in his 20s or 30s."

Joel's views coincide with a poll by Extension Magazine, a catholic monthly with a youthful readership. A high percentage of those polled declared Hollywood's mature stars should either retire or cut out the love stuff.

Joel himself confessed that he had thought of retiring.

"During the war, I did some touring to entertain the troops," he recalled. "I ran into a lot of young guys who seemed to have the looks and personality to become stars in pictures. I figured that I'd had it, that I could gracefully step aside and let the youngsters take over.

"But it didn't turn out that way after the war. Most of the kids who were given a try at pictures couldn't make it. Maybe they didn't try hard enough; maybe they just didn't have it to give.

"Whatever it was, I found myself in the peculiar position of getting better scripts than I had ever had before. They were roles with character that I had longed for when I was younger but never got."

Joel's career fulfills the prediction made by Edgar Wallace, the mystery writer who was penning a film for the young actor at RKO years ago.

Hearing the lad complain about the lack of progress in his career, Wallace commented, "Don't worry, my boy. You're going to be a late bloomer."

Homer Barrage Falls Shy of Record by One

Batters Dominate Wednesday With 20 Roundtrippers

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

That "hot" National League pennant race of last year begins to look like a "runaway" compared to what's going on these days with no less than six teams scrapping and no more than 10 percentage points separating the first four.

The whole league exploded under the pressure Wednesday in what was exciting, if not brilliant, baseball—with 20 home runs (one shy of the major league record for a five-game day), 125 hits and 90 runs off 35 pitchers. Of the hits, 53 were for extra bases.

After the shelling, the St. Louis Cardinals retained first place by four points over the Cincinnati Redlegs. Both were beaten. Third-place Philadelphia, half a game behind, walloped the Cards 11-3; and the Redlegs were clobbered 17-7 by the sixth-place New York Giants, the latest club to declare itself "in" on the pennant fight.

The fourth - place Milwaukee Braves, also half a game back and within two points of the Phillies, battered Brooklyn 13-9, leaving the Dodgers in fifth, two games behind and only 4½ ahead of the Giants.

Pittsburgh quit the cellar in a double-header with the Chicago Cubs, winning 15-5 to plunk the Bruins back to eighth before a 5-5 tie called after 11 innings because of darkness.

In the American League, where a "whopping" half game stands between first and second, Chicago's White Sox retained the lead with a 7-5 job on Boston while the second-place New York Yankees defeated Cleveland 3-1. Detroit rallied to beat Washington 4-1 and Baltimore defeated Kansas City 1-0 as Connie Johnson out-dueled Arnie Portocarrero in a double three-hitter.

Southpaw Curt Simmons got away with a nine-hitter for his seventh victory as the Phillies unloaded 16 hits, handing Lindy McDaniel a fourth defeat. Rookie Harry Anderson broke a 1-all tie with a homer that triggered a three-run sixth inning. The Phils got four more runs in the seventh, then tagged Bob Miller, an 18-year-old, $25,000 bonus kid, making his debut, with three runs in the ninth.

The Giants won their 11th in the last 15 games. Bobby Thomson drove in five runs and Willie Mays four. Both were 4-for-6 in a 20-hit barrage that nailed Johnny Klippstein with a seventh loss. Stu Miller won his second in relief.

Milwaukee crunched Don Newcombe with seven runs on five homers, shelling the big guy as Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington hit successive homers in the fifth to narrow Brooklyn's lead to 9-7. The Braves bagged it with six in the eighth off Clem Labine. Mathews had two home runs, good for four runs, in a 15-hit spree that gave reliefer Gene Conley his first victory.

Pittsburgh's Dee Fondy was 7-for-11, taking the league bat lead from Stan Musial (.365 to .353). There were 49 hits in the twin bill, 31 by the Pirates and 22 were good for extra bases. Bill Mazeroski homered in both games for the Bucs.

Three sacrifice flies won for the Yanks, two by Hank Bauer. Johnny Kucks won his fifth with Bob Grim's relief help in the ninth. Bob Lemon lost it.

Jim Wilson won his eighth for the White Sox, but needed relief help after Bubba Phillips had homered in the fifth to give him a 6-1 lead. Willard Nixon lost his fourth.

A three-run seventh, with Ray Boone's RBI double and J. W. Porter and Ron Samford batting in a run each with singles, won for the Tigers and Jim Bunning.

Jim Busby homered in the fifth for Baltimore. Johnson struck out four and walked none. Portocarrero gained his first complete game in nine starts since Sept. 7, 1955.

Girtons on Rampage To Swamp Seals

Second place Girtons kept their red - hot bats going at a fast pace here Wednesday evening as they ran over the Seals, 17-7.

The Girton team has now scored 37 runs in its last two games with a total of 23 hits.

Eddie Juilerat, winning pitcher in the 20-2 Girton romp over Good Hope last week, was the starter and winner of this run-away also. Although nicked for seven runs, the tallies did not come at a time when they could hurt. The little pitcher scattered six Seal hits, two of them extra base jobs by Tim Kellough and Bill Batson.

Jack Gardner started for the Seals, but retired from the hill when the Frozen Foods tallied four times in the fourth. Herb Jones and Pete Evans were Gardner's successors.

Girton's big inning was the sixth when they set some sort of record by scoring six runs without a hit.

Bob Huff, slugging Girton third baseman, was again the game's hit leader with three for four. In Huff's second time at bat he belted a booming double to keep his doubles streak going at seven straight. In his next time to the plate he smacked a three base hit into the left field corner.

Their loss to the Girton boys dropped the Seals into a last place tie with Good Hope, both having identical records of 1-4.

Girtons are in second place just two games behind league leading Brays.

Helfrichs and Coffmans Win Minor League Games

In the two Minor League games played in the circuit Wednesday evening, the Helfriches and Coffmans emerged victorious.

At Armbrust Field, the Helfrich team edged the Chows, 5-4. Dave Dixsa and Bob Elliot had two for two for the winners while Donnie Slagle poled a home run for the losers. Each team collected eight hits in this tightly fought ball game.

The Coffman team slugged out six hits to beat the Rockets by a score of 9-5. Jerry Showalter led the Coffman attack with three for three while Mark Frederick and Larry Anderson got one hit apiece for the Rockets.

Kernels and Jets Tied at Deadline

The Kernels came up with nine runs in the last of the sixth inning against the Jets Wednesday night to knot the score of their Little League ball game at 10-all when the time deadline halted the game.

At the time of the deadline, the Jets were staging an effort to break the game open as they scored two runs and were leading the Kernels 12-10 with the bases-loaded and one out. When play resumes a week from this Saturday the situation will take over where it left off. The Kernels will always have the last half of the inning to even the score, however, for they are the home team and get the last bat.

Long distance hitter of the game was the Jet's Mike Kelley who clobbered a home run and a double.

Mike Burris started for the Jets and was the victim of the Kernels' late rally. Don Juilerat, brought in by manager Stan Mark, proved equal to the task. The right-handed pitcher put the fire out before the Kernels could score again. Loose play by the Jet infield, usually strong on defense, and several base hits accounted for the Kernel rally.

Harry O'Cull started for the Kernels but was shelled from the hill. Jerry Warner took over the pitching duties, with the only big blow hit off him being Kelley's homer.

Busby Finds Batting Eye in Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)— Jim Busby, veteran outfielder dealt off by the Cleveland Indians 13 days ago, brought along power laden bats when he reported to the Baltimore Orioles.

When he left the Indians June 14 in an even-up swap for Dick Williams, Busby was hitting .189 as a centerfield replacement for rookie Roger Maris. In the Baltimore starting lineup, Busby not only has continued the sparkling fielding which has made him one of the best in the American League, but has hit .348 as an Oriole and batted in 10 runs.

Two SWO Games Set for County

Columbus All Stars Still Out in Front

The Columbus All Stars, still unbeaten but tied once are out in front as the Southwestern Ohio (SWO) League headed for the second round of games next Sunday.

By contrast, one of the three Fayette County teams in the loop, the Ross & Satterfield outfit of Washington C. H., is still winless and sharing the cellar with Blanchester.

Only Bloomingburg, Milledgeville and Chillicothe have completed their seven-game first round schedule.

The two tailenders, R&S and Blanchester, have a rained out game to be played off and both the All Stars and Greenfield were involved in tie games at the Reformatory, which have not been played off. Last Sunday, the All Stars and Reformatory outfit were deadlocked at 8-8 when time ran out.

NEXT SUNDAY, the R&S boys will play Milledgeville on the Jeffersonville lot; Chillicothe's Businessmen will go to the Reformatory; Greenfield will be at Blanchester and the All Stars at Bloomingburg.

Hoping to break the jinx and rack up that first win, Tommy Smalley has called a practice for the R&S crew at the National Cash Register Co. field Friday evening. This field is being used, Smalley explained, until the NCR building program gets underway—how long it will be available, he said he did not know.

Jeff Edges Medics On Cook's Pitching

Jim Cook, Jeffersonville right-hander, set a new Babe Ruth League strikeout record when he sent 20 Medics down swinging as his team edged into a 3 to 2 victory Wednesday evening on the Jeffersonville lot.

Jim's 2-hit pitching was a big factor in theJeff victory climb into hird place in the standing.

Incidentally, the strikeout record broken by Cook was his own. Earlier in the season, he fanned 16 in one game and 17 in another.

Jeffersonville has won three games and Cook was on the mound for all of them.

Ernie Heman started Wednesday for the Medics. He pitched well enough to win most games, but lack of hitting support from his teammates led to defeat. Three hits were all that the Jeff batters could manage off the right-handed slants of Herman.

Herman and Cook were engaged in an excellent 2-2 pitching duel going into the last half of the first extra inning (8th, but Jeff won the game by putting together a lead-off walk, single and an infield ground-out to account for the winning tally.

The win evened Jeff's record at 3-3 while the fifth place Medics have a record of 2-4.

Homer Barrage Falls Shy of Record by One

Batters Dominate Wednesday With 20 Roundtrippers

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

That "hot" National League pennant race of last year begins to look like a "runaway" compared to what's going on these days with no less than six teams scrapping and no more than 10 percentage points separating the first four.

The whole league exploded under the pressure Wednesday in what was exciting, if not brilliant, baseball—with 20 home runs (one shy of the major league record for a five-game day), 125 hits and 90 runs off 35 pitchers. Of the hits, 53 were for extra bases.

After the shelling, the St. Louis Cardinals retained first place by four points over the Cincinnati Redlegs. Both were beaten. Third-place Philadelphia, half a game behind, walloped the Cards 11-3; and the Redlegs were clobbered 17-7 by the sixth-place New York Giants, the latest club to declare itself "in" on the pennant fight.

The fourth - place Milwaukee Braves, also half a game back and within two points of the Phillies, battered Brooklyn 13-9, leaving the Dodgers in fifth, two games behind and only 4½ ahead of the Giants.

Pittsburgh quit the cellar in a double-header with the Chicago Cubs, winning 15-5 to plunk the Bruins back to eighth before a 5-5 tie called after 11 innings because of darkness.

In the American League, where a "whopping" half game stands between first and second, Chicago's White Sox retained the lead with a 7-5 job on Boston while the second-place New York Yankees defeated Cleveland 3-1. Detroit rallied to beat Washington 4-1 and Baltimore defeated Kansas City 1-0 as Connie Johnson out-dueled Arnie Portocarrero in a double three-hitter.

Southpaw Curt Simmons got away with a nine-hitter for his seventh victory as the Phillies unloaded 16 hits, handing Lindy McDaniel a fourth defeat. Rookie Harry Anderson broke a 1-all tie with a homer that triggered a three-run sixth inning. The Phils got four more runs in the seventh, then tagged Bob Miller, an 18-year-old, $25,000 bonus kid, making his debut, with three runs in the ninth.

The Giants won their 11th in the last 15 games. Bobby Thomson drove in five runs and Willie Mays four. Both were 4-for-6 in a 20-hit barrage that nailed Johnny Klippstein with a seventh loss. Stu Miller won his second in relief.

Milwaukee crunched Don Newcombe with seven runs on five homers, shelling the big guy as Hank Aaron, Eddie Mathews and Wes Covington hit successive homers in the fifth to narrow Brooklyn's lead to 9-7. The Braves bagged it with six in the eighth off Clem Labine. Mathews had two home runs, good for four runs, in a 15-hit spree that gave reliefer Gene Conley his first victory.

Pittsburgh's Dee Fondy was 7-for-11, taking the league bat lead from Stan Musial (.365 to .353). There were 49 hits in the twin bill, 31 by the Pirates and 22 were good for extra bases. Bill Mazeroski homered in both games for the Bucs.

Three sacrifice flies won for the Yanks, two by Hank Bauer. Johnny Kucks won his fifth with Bob Grim's relief help in the ninth. Bob Lemon lost it.

Jim Wilson won his eighth for the White Sox, but needed relief help after Bubba Phillips had homered in the fifth to give him a 6-1 lead. Willard Nixon lost his fourth.

A three-run seventh, with Ray Boone's RBI double and J. W. Porter and Ron Samford batting in a run each with singles, won for the Tigers and Jim Bunning.

Jim Busby homered in the fifth for Baltimore. Johnson struck out four and walked none. Portocarrero gained his first complete game in nine starts since Sept. 7, 1955.

Girtons on Rampage To Swamp Seals

Second place Girtons kept their red - hot bats going at a fast pace here Wednesday evening as they ran over the Seals, 17-7.

The Girton team has now scored 37 runs in its last two games with a total of 23 hits.

Eddie Juilerat, winning pitcher in the 20-2 Girton romp over Good Hope last week, was the starter and winner of this run-away also. Although nicked for seven runs, the tallies did not come at a time when they could hurt. The little pitcher scattered six Seal hits, two of them extra base jobs by Tim Kellough and Bill Batson.

Jack Gardner started for the Seals, but retired from the hill when the Frozen Foods tallied four times in the fourth. Herb Jones and Pete Evans were Gardner's successors.

Girton's big inning was the sixth when they set some sort of record by scoring six runs without a hit.

Bob Huff, slugging Girton third baseman, was again the game's hit leader with three for four. In Huff's second time at bat he belted a booming double to keep his doubles streak going at seven straight. In his next time to the plate he smacked a three base hit into the left field corner.

Their loss to the Girton boys dropped the Seals into a last place tie with Good Hope, both having identical records of 1-4.

Girtons are in second place just two games behind league leading Brays.

Incidentally, the strikeout record broken by Cook was his own. Earlier in the season, he fanned 16 in one game and 17 in another.

Jeffersonville has won three games and Cook was on the mound for all of them.

Ernie Heman started Wednesday for the Medics. He pitched well enough to win most games, but lack of hitting support from his teammates led to defeat. Three hits were all that the Jeff batters could manage off the right-handed slants of Herman.

Herman and Cook were engaged in an excellent 2-2 pitching duel going into the last half of the first extra inning (8th, but Jeff won the game by putting together a lead-off walk, single and an infield ground-out to account for the winning tally.

The win evened Jeff's record at 3-3 while the fifth place Medics have a record of 2-4.

Women's Golf Tourney Draws 59 Entrants

Mrs. Lucille Sibrel from the Ohio State University Club won the annual Women's Invitational Golf Tournament at the Country Club here Wednesday with a 95. Mrs. Ruth Athey of Circleville was second with 99.

But, sharing the interest with the score— and the winners— was the size of the turnout. The total of 59 women registered for the tourney came from Columbus (5), Wilmington (13), Sabina (4) and Circleville (7). Washington C. H. was represented by 24.

Luncheon in the club house followed the morning's golf.

The tournament was over the 18-hole route officially, but a number of the women only played nine.

Mrs. Byers Shaw was the general chairman of the tournament.

Trophies and prizes were awarded for:

Low gross on 18 holes— Mrs. Sibel (trophy), Mary Carpenter (glove), Margaret Shobe (three golf balls) and Marilyn Graef (cap).

Golfers Eye Prizes In Western Open

DETROIT (AP)—The scramble for $25,000 in prizes and the added race for Ryder Cup points features the 54th Western Open Golf Tournament running today through Sunday at Plum Hollow Golf Club.

Sam Snead, who passed up last week's Flint Open, and was a starter in the Western which he has won twice. The West Virginia swinger is 12th in Ryder Cup standings and needs to add some points to make the 10-man crew that will compete against England's golfers early in October.

Billy Loes Top Candidate For Year's Comeback Title

54—Thur Spts No. 11—Billy Loes

BALTIMORE (AP) — Broadway Billy Loes, his promising pitching career apparently doomed by a sore arm at the age of 26, is bidding for "Comeback of the Year" honors a year later as the ace of the Baltimore Orioles.

The sometimes-eccentric right-hander hurled one of the best games of his career Tuesday night as he blanked Kansas City 5-0 on three singles. He pitched perfect ball for 5 1-3 innings and wound up facing only two batters more than the minimum. He threw only 98 pitches.

The performance came several hours after the Orioles had announced a $1,000 raise for Loes on his 1957 contract.

Loes struck out six and didn't walk a man as he won his eighth game of the season while completing nine innings for the fifth time in 10 tries. He has lost only three and his earned run average stands at 2.63.

"He really showed me something," coach Al Vincent said after the game. "You just don't throw a better fast ball than he had and his control was perfect."

Loes has a good start toward his best record in the majors. He never won more than 14 in four full seasons with the Brooklyn Dogers of the National League after receiving a $21,000 bonus in 1948.

Manager Paul Richards of the Orioles purchased Loes from the Dodgers for $20,000 May 14, 1956. The pitcher had been sidelined with a sore shoulder muscle, diagnosed as tendonitis.

Lancaster Coach Moves to Canton

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—John E. McVay, a graduate of Miami University, Oxford Ohio, has been appointed football coach at Central Catholic High School here to succeed Les Zorge, who resigned recently to accept a similar post at Westfield, N. J.

McVay, 26, has been assistant football coach at Lancaster, Ohio, High School for three years.

Tribe Chief Blows Scalp In 3-1 Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Kerby Farrell of the Cleveland Indians faced possible suspension and fine for angrily disputing a call by umpire John Stevens in Wednesday's 3-1 loss to the New York Yankees.

Farrell was ejected from the game by Stevens. Even after he got the thumb, he continued to argue with the umpire. When he finally did leave, he turned and flung his cap toward second base where the disputed call was made.

It was the ninth inning. The Yanks were leading 3-0. Successive singles by Russ Nixon and Joe Altobelli drove Yankee starter Johnny Kucks to the showers. The new Yankee pitcher, Bob Grim, got Al Smith to force Altobelli at second. Kenny Kuhn, running for Nixon, reached third on the play.

Then Larry Raines hit a grounder to Bob Richardson at second base. It looked like a double play, Richardson flipped to Gil McDougald at second, but McDougald dropped the ball the instant after he touched the bag. Meantime, Kuhn scored from third.

Umpire Stevens called Smith out, ruling that McDougald had possession of the ball when he stepped on second base, and dropped it in the act of throwing to first.

Farrell stormed out of the dugout and ran to second base, and the rhubarb was on.

The decision stood, of course.

Vic Wertz kept the rally alive with a single through the box, sending Raines to third.

With the tying runs on base, Gene Woodling fanned on a 3-2 pitch.

Giants Pound Red Hurlers, Win 17-7

CINCINNATI (AP)—Now the Cincinnati Redlegs know how the Chicago Cubs felt a few weeks ago when the Rhinelanders clobbered them, 22-2.

The Reds got a dose of the same medicine Wednesday night. The New York Giants hit anything and everything four different pitchers served up for a 17-7 victory.

Through the fifth, sixth and seventh inning the Giants scored 15 runs. Their hitting total showed four doubles, a triple and two home runs. Bob Thomson, who couldn't hit his weight while he was with Milwaukee earlier this season, rapped out four hits, including a homer, and drove in five runs.

Willie Mays hit into a double play the first time he was at bat and then clipped Redleg hurlers for a single, two doubles and a triple and drove in four runs. Every Giant in the lineup except the pitchers and Dusty Rhodes, who was at bat only once, got at least one hit.

By the time the seventh inning had ended, even Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Reds apparently gave up. He finished with Jerry Lynch, who saw limited service as a catcher with the Pittsburgh Pirates a few years ago, behind the bat; bonus rookie Bob Henrich at shortstop and utility outfielder Pete Whisenant in left field.

For five innings it was a reasonably good ball game. With the score tied at 2-2, the Giants started their spluge.

Dodgers Move Seems Apparent In Testimony of O'Malley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Celler, a Democrat from Brooklyn, said today the borough has lost its battle to keep the Dodgers.

Celler sought for 2½ hours Wednesday to pin down Dodger President Walter O'Malley on the Brooklyn baseball club's future. O'Malley was testifying before Celler's House Antitrust subcommittee, which is considering legislation on application of the antitrust laws to professional sports.

O'Malley said he is not committed to moving the Dodgers to Los Angeles — but that people in that West Coast city are "working very rapidly and very intelligently" to get the National League team there.

He said the Dodgers would stay in Brooklyn if New York City would provide a site for a 50,000-seat stadium as well as a big parking facility. But in almost the next breath, he said, "Time is definitely running out on that." At another point, he said he never had asked New York to build him a stadium or parking lots.

Celler asked O'Malley point-blank whether the Dodgers will play in Los Angeles next year, and the Dodger president replied: "I do not know the answer."

But today Celler told newsmen: "He's over the brink. He has made up his mind. He dan't very well say now that he'll move—it would ruin attendance this season."

Rep. Keating of Rochester, N. Y., senior Republican on the subcommittee, said in a separate interview he thinks there still is hope for New York City to persuade the Dodgers to stay in Brooklyn—"and I hope the city doesn't miss the boat again."

Boyd Gains Split Decision

CHICAGO (AP)—Bobby Boyd, his tender jaw rarely in jeopardy, flicked his way to a split decision over middleweight veteran Rocky Castellani Wednesday night and Castellani jeered "I've had better fights in the gym."

Castellani's manager, Alvin Naiman, moaned, "What are you supposed to do in this town?" and joined Castellani's handlers in unanimous agreement that it was a "home town" decision and that their gladiator had been gypped.

Castellani, the 7-5 underdog from Cleveland, said "It was the easiest fight I ever had. I could fight tomorrow. I thought I had it all the way. He never hurt me."

Boyd, a 23-year-old Chicago Negro, had nothing but nice words for the 30-year-old Castellani, saying his victim was "one of the smartest fighters I ever fought" and "he's got a good punch."

The referee, Bernie Weissman, scored it 47-45 in favor of Boyd. Judge Jim McManus saw Castellani winning 47-43. The other judge, Frank Clark, gave it to Boyd, 47-46. The Associated Press had it a draw, 45-45.

Turnstile Trap For Boy and Bike

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A youngster rode his bike into the jaws of a turnstile Wednesday and they bit.

Boy and bike were stuck tight in the lattice-like fingers of the gate. He yelled for help.

Finally firemen came and dismantled part of the bicycle so he could escape.

The embarrassed youngster refused to give his name—he just picked up the pieces and fled.

Billy Loes Top Candidate For Year's Comeback Title

54—Thur Spts No. 11—Billy Loes

BALTIMORE (AP) — Broadway Billy Loes, his promising pitching career apparently doomed by a sore arm at the age of 26, is bidding for "Comeback of the Year" honors a year later as the ace of the Baltimore Orioles.

The sometimes-eccentric right-hander hurled one of the best games of his career Tuesday night as he blanked Kansas City 5-0 on three singles. He pitched perfect ball for 5 1-3 innings and wound up facing only two batters more than the minimum. He threw only 98 pitches.

The performance came several hours after the Orioles had announced a $1,000 raise for Loes on his 1957 contract.

Loes struck out six and didn't walk a man as he won his eighth game of the season while completing nine innings for the fifth time in 10 tries. He has lost only three and his earned run average stands at 2.63.

"He really showed me something," coach Al Vincent said after the game. "You just don't throw a better fast ball than he had and his control was perfect."

Loes has a good start toward his best record in the majors. He never won more than 14 in four full seasons with the Brooklyn Dogers of the National League after receiving a $21,000 bonus in 1948.

Manager Paul Richards of the Orioles purchased Loes from the Dodgers for $20,000 May 14, 1956. The pitcher had been sidelined with a sore shoulder muscle, diagnosed as tendonitis.

McVay, 26, has been assistant football coach at Lancaster, Ohio, High School for three years.

Giants Pound Red Hurlers, Win 17-7

CINCINNATI (AP)—Now the Cincinnati Redlegs know how the Chicago Cubs felt a few weeks ago when the Rhinelanders clobbered them, 22-2.

The Reds got a dose of the same medicine Wednesday night. The New York Giants hit anything and everything four different pitchers served up for a 17-7 victory.

Through the fifth, sixth and seventh inning the Giants scored 15 runs. Their hitting total showed four doubles, a triple and two home runs. Bob Thomson, who couldn't hit his weight while he was with Milwaukee earlier this season, rapped out four hits, including a homer, and drove in five runs.

Willie Mays hit into a double play the first time he was at bat and then clipped Redleg hurlers for a single, two doubles and a triple and drove in four runs. Every Giant in the lineup except the pitchers and Dusty Rhodes, who was at bat only once, got at least one hit.

By the time the seventh inning had ended, even Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Reds apparently gave up. He finished with Jerry Lynch, who saw limited service as a catcher with the Pittsburgh Pirates a few years ago, behind the bat; bonus rookie Bob Henrich at shortstop and utility outfielder Pete Whisenant in left field.

For five innings it was a reasonably good ball game. With the score tied at 2-2, the Giants started their spluge.

Tribe Chief Blows Scalp In 3-1 Loss

NEW YORK (AP)—Manager Kerby Farrell of the Cleveland Indians faced possible suspension and fine for angrily disputing a call by umpire John Stevens in Wednesday's 3-1 loss to the New York Yankees.

Farrell was ejected from the game by Stevens. Even after he got the thumb, he continued to argue with the umpire. When he finally did leave, he turned and flung his cap toward second base where the disputed call was made.

It was the ninth inning. The Yanks were leading 3-0. Successive singles by Russ Nixon and Joe Altobelli drove Yankee starter Johnny Kucks to the showers. The new Yankee pitcher, Bob Grim, got Al Smith to force Altobelli at second. Kenny Kuhn, running for Nixon, reached third on the play.

Then Larry Raines hit a grounder to Bob Richardson at second base. It looked like a double play, Richardson flipped to Gil McDougald at second, but McDougald dropped the ball the instant after he touched the bag. Meantime, Kuhn scored from third.

Umpire Stevens called Smith out, ruling that McDougald had possession of the ball when he stepped on second base, and dropped it in the act of throwing to first.

Farrell stormed out of the dugout and ran to second base, and the rhubarb was on.

The decision stood, of course.

Vic Wertz kept the rally alive with a single through the box, sending Raines to third.

With the tying runs on base, Gene Woodling fanned on a 3-2 pitch.

Dodgers Move Seems Apparent In Testimony of O'Malley

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Celler, a Democrat from Brooklyn, said today the borough has lost its battle to keep the Dodgers.

Celler sought for 2½ hours Wednesday to pin down Dodger President Walter O'Malley on the Brooklyn baseball club's future. O'Malley was testifying before Celler's House Antitrust subcommittee, which is considering legislation on application of the antitrust laws to professional sports.

O'Malley said he is not committed to moving the Dodgers to Los Angeles — but that people in that West Coast city are "working very rapidly and very intelligently" to get the National League team there.

He said the Dodgers would stay in Brooklyn if New York City would provide a site for a 50,000-seat stadium as well as a big parking facility. But in almost the next breath, he said, "Time is definitely running out on that." At another point, he said he never had asked New York to build him a stadium or parking lots.

Celler asked O'Malley point-blank whether the Dodgers will play in Los Angeles next year, and the Dodger president replied: "I do not know the answer."

But today Celler told newsmen: "He's over the brink. He has made up his mind. He dan't very well say now that he'll move—it would ruin attendance this season."

Rep. Keating of Rochester, N. Y., senior Republican on the subcommittee, said in a separate interview he thinks there still is hope for New York City to persuade the Dodgers to stay in Brooklyn—"and I hope the city doesn't miss the boat again."

Boyd Gains Split Decision

CHICAGO (AP)—Bobby Boyd, his tender jaw rarely in jeopardy, flicked his way to a split decision over middleweight veteran Rocky Castellani Wednesday night and Castellani jeered "I've had better fights in the gym."

Castellani's manager, Alvin Naiman, moaned, "What are you supposed to do in this town?" and joined Castellani's handlers in unanimous agreement that it was a "home town" decision and that their gladiator had been gypped.

Castellani, the 7-5 underdog from Cleveland, said "It was the easiest fight I ever had. I could fight tomorrow. I thought I had it all the way. He never hurt me."

Boyd, a 23-year-old Chicago Negro, had nothing but nice words for the 30-year-old Castellani, saying his victim was "one of the smartest fighters I ever fought" and "he's got a good punch."

The referee, Bernie Weissman, scored it 47-45 in favor of Boyd. Judge Jim McManus saw Castellani winning 47-43. The other judge, Frank Clark, gave it to Boyd, 47-46. The Associated Press had it a draw, 45-45.

Turnstile Trap For Boy and Bike

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A youngster rode his bike into the jaws of a turnstile Wednesday and they bit.

Boy and bike were stuck tight in the lattice-like fingers of the gate. He yelled for help.

Finally firemen came and dismantled part of the bicycle so he could escape.

The embarrassed youngster refused to give his name—he just picked up the pieces and fled.

Weygandt Terms Ohio Court 'In Dark' on U. S. Mandate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court says he believes recent U.S. Supreme Court decisions dealing with attempts to curb Communist activity could stir up possible congressional recriminations.

"I don't know whether they (Supreme Court justices) realize what could happen if Congress gets sufficiently stirred up," he said Tuesday.

Unlike Ohio, where the supreme court's jurisdiction is fixed by state constitution, the Supreme Court in the federal government has its jurisdiction fixed "almost entire" by Congress, Weygandt said.

The chief justice's remarks followed a U.S. Supreme Court order for the Ohio Supreme Court to reconsider its decision upholding the convictions of four Ohioans for contempt of the now defunct Ohio Un-American Activities Commission.

The four are Mrs. Anna Morgan, formerly of Columbus and now living in Illinois; Joseph Stern and Emmett C. Brown of Cincinnati and Talmadge Raley of Sidney. They all invoked the Fifth Amendment at hearings in 1952 when the commission questioned them about alleged communist activity.

In Ohio, attorneys said the federal order might affect appeals from 19 other contempt convictions now pending in Ohio appellate courts and nine similar cases awaiting grand jury action in Cuyahoga County. Eight of the 19 cases are in Akron, five in Canto and six in Columbus.

Weygandt said action by his court, now in summer recess, would depend on how the federal mandate, expected within a month is worded.

"We are in the dark until we get the mandate," he said.

Rates To Be Boosted

CLEVELAND (AP) — Cleveland's larger financial institutions will raise their interest rates on savings accounts July 1 by one-half per cent to levels that already were in effect at many smaller firms. Rates will be 2½ instead of 2 per cent. The major savings and loan institutions announced their rates will be increased from 3 to 3½ per cent.

DOUBLE THRILLER—A couple of fantastic thrillers are booked for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Fayette Theater. One is "The Giant Claw," a hair-raiser about a monster bird from the stratosphere making war on humanity. The other, "The Night the World Exploded," is a science-fiction movie, starring Kathryn Grant and Willaim Leslie.

Trace Making His Deposition In Walls Case

Former High School Principal Testifies Behind Closed Doors

John R. Trace, former principal of Washington C. H. High School, finally started making a deposition of his testimony in the embezzlement case against Mrs. Beverly Clickner Walls shortly after 8 a. m. Thursday.

The way was paved for the taking of the deposition Wednesday afternoon when Judge Darrell R. Hottle of Highland County, sitting by assignment, overruled a motion by Mrs. Walls to vacate an entry by Judge Hottle last Monday.

In that entry, Judge Hottle set the time and place for the taking of the deposition and appointed Edwin F. Hammock of Columbus as the special commissioner to take Trace's testimony. Hammock is a member of the Columbus court reporting firm of Hammock and Pace.

Mrs. Walls, indicted for embezzlement of $9,874 from the high school activity fund while she was a clerk in the principal's office, contended in her motion to vacate the order of Judge Hottle that the taking of Trace's deposition is a violation of the constitution, that the jury should see and hear Trace give his testimony and that she (Mrs. Walls) had not been notified of the application for the deposition.

PROSECUTOR Rollo M. Marchant made the application for the deposition because Trace, who has resigned as high school principal, had said he was leaving for Guam early next month to become the director of education there.

The doors of the Common Pleas Court room were closed when the taking of the deposition started Thursday morning, although there were several apparently not directly connected with the case inside.

Mrs. Walls was represented by Attorney Charles F. Buck of Dayton, but J. Harvey Crow, her employer and former attorney, was in the Courthouse. The state was represented by Prosecutor Marchant.

Mrs. Walls' trial, set originally for June 3, was continued by order of Judge John P. Case when the Second District Court of Appeals affirmed the disbarment of Crow more than two years ago.

JUDGE CASE had disqualified himself at the outset and Mrs. Walls was arraigned May 7 before Judge John Houston of Brown County, sitting by assignment by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court. She pleaded not guilty and Judge Houston set her trial for June 3. She was released on bond.

Since then, aspects of the case have gone before judges of two Courts of Appeals and the Supreme Court in a series of unusual legal maneuvers. About a week ago, Judge Case again stepped aside voluntarily.

No date for the trial of Mrs. Walls has been set, since the first date was passed by during the legal tug-of-war. When the case does come to trial, it will be before a judge assigned by the chief justice.

Burglars Get Cigarettes, Pennies Only

Burglars broke into two area business places Wednesday night and apparently got only cigarettes and pennies for their trouble.

Doors were broken open at the Lucas Town and Country Market, Route 22, about a mile east of Washington C. H. and the Girton Electrical Shop, 131 W. Court St.

"Three or four" cartons of cigarettes and about 50 cents in change were missing at the market, Mrs. William Lucas said. Employes at the electric shop said a preliminary check showed "nothing at all" missing.

Both breaks were discovered about 4 a. m. City police discovered the Girton shop open while on night patrol, and John Williams, a bread delivery man, reported the break-in at the market.

Traffic Signal System Mapped For Court-Clinton Intersection

Five new traffic signals were ordered Wednesday night for the Court - Clinton - Leesburg - Highland intersection after members of City Council had reviewed plans for redesigning the Y - type junction with state highway department officials, a traffic engineer, Police Chief Vaiden Long and City Manager James F. Parkinson.

Preliminary work on the intersection, which will be "channelized" to facilitate rapid movement of traffic with a maximum of safety, has been under way for two weeks. The job includes cutting back curb lines to provide wider pavement wherever possible.

The five signals, all suspended on overhead cables, will be as follows:

(1) A continuous green arrow for westbound traffic to Wilmington and Cincinnati;

(2) A standard light controlling westbound traffic turning left into Highland and Leesburg Aves. This will work in connection with

(3) A standard light controlling eastbound traffic on Clinton Ave. into Court St. Right turns into Highland Ave. will be permitted.

(4) A standard light controlling Leesburg traffic eastbound into Court St. or Highland Ave.;

(5) A red ball (stop and then proceed with caution) controlling traffic from Highland Ave. into the intersection. This will be in conjunction with a green arrow which will permit traffic in a center lane to turn left into Leesburg Ave. No turns from Highland into Clinton will be permitted, and drivers wishing to get into Clinton from Highland may turn into Leesburg and then use one of the cross streets to the west— particularly Oakland Ave. where a light guards the intersection with Clinton. Highland traffic moving into Court will stop at the red ball and then proceed with caution.

THE SIGNAL layout was approved by Council after Ralph Ryerson, Columbus, traffic coordinator of the State Highway Department's Bureau of Traffic, had suggested several minor changes in an earlier plan. He was accompanied to the meeting by Howard Gregg, Washington C. H., route marking superintendent for Highway Division 6 with headquarters at Delaware.

Also on hand to explain the operation of the signal system was James Lewis, traffic engineer for Baldwin and Sours, Columbus, who furnished the city's new traffic signal system and will provide the signals at the intersection.

Left - turning westbound traffic at the intersection will be protected by the largest of five "islands" designed to channelize traffic flow at the "Y".

Westbound traffic will be prepared for the diversion system at the west end of the Paint Creek bridge where a tubular steel support spanning Court St will guide traffic into the proper lanes— both by route numbers and by cities.

Seven Men Here Ready for Fishing

Seven Fayette County men are at their places of business today, but their hearts are not in their work. They are dreaming of the days of relaxation ahead while making mental preparations to leave Saturday for Battersea, Ontario.

In one expedition will be Bill Himmelspach, Paul Pennington, Harry Thrailkill and Joe F. Loudner. In the other will be Ray Brandenburg, Ray French and Sam Marting.

They plan to stay a week in neighboring cottages on Dog Lake and hope to catch some big bass and, maybe, some pike and lake trout. But, what they are really looking forward to is an escape from the daily grind of business and find relaxation.

Although Battersea, a little village on Dog Lake, is only about 20 mile from the busy city of Kingston, one of the Fayette County fishermen said things are pretty primative around there. . .they manage to keep it that way for people who want to get away from the tensions of modern life in the city."

No other beauty aid in America can make this statement:
Now you can shed— yes, actually shed dull, lifeless skin with SKIN-UP

That's why SKIN UP alone wakes up the "sleeping beauty" of your face—quickly, and more important, safely.
Even the cleanest complexion wears a "mask" of worn-out skin cells. A Viennese Beauty Scientist, Frau Freidl Schreyer, has discovered a new emulsion that lifts away the old top layer and releases the glowing beauty beneath! It's SKIN UP.
Tested on 21,000 women of all skin types, it helped blemishes disappear, blackheads vanish. It is an original Viennese Salon Facial treatment, adapted for home use.
Use SKIN UP to prepare face and throat for treatment creams. Apply a little, let dry. When dry, SKIN UP acts as thousands of tiny erasers, removing dead skin from pores, allowing skin to "breathe." It feeds skin with a substance which promotes growth of the cells.
SKIN UP does what no cleanser, cream, mask or cosmetic can hope to do. Does it quickly and safely. There is no similar product in America today.
Let SKIN UP clear your pores and erase dead cells. Enough for 40 treatments, costs just $5.00 plus 10% Federal Tax. (That's over a month's daily salon treatments.)

Burglars Get Cigarettes, Pennies Only

Burglars broke into two area business places Wednesday night and apparently got only cigarettes and pennies for their trouble.

Doors were broken open at the Lucas Town and Country Market, Route 22, about a mile east of Washington C. H. and the Girton Electrical Shop, 131 W. Court St.

"Three or four" cartons of cigarettes and about 50 cents in change were missing at the market, Mrs. William Lucas said. Employes at the electric shop said a preliminary check showed "nothing at all" missing.

Both breaks were discovered about 4 a. m. City police discovered the Girton shop open while on night patrol, and John Williams, a bread delivery man, reported the break-in at the market.

Traffic Signal System Mapped For Court-Clinton Intersection

Five new traffic signals were ordered Wednesday night for the Court - Clinton - Leesburg - Highland intersection after members of City Council had reviewed plans for redesigning the Y - type junction with state highway department officials, a traffic engineer, Police Chief Vaiden Long and City Manager James F. Parkinson.

Preliminary work on the intersection, which will be "channelized" to facilitate rapid movement of traffic with a maximum of safety, has been under way for two weeks. The job includes cutting back curb lines to provide wider pavement where ever possible.

The five signals, all suspended on overhead cables, will be as follows:

(1) A continuous green arrow for westbound traffic to Wilmington and Cincinnati;

(2) A standard light controlling westbound traffic turning left into Highland and Leesburg Aves. This will work in connection with

(3) A standard light controlling eastbound traffic on Clinton Ave. into Court St. Right turns into Highland Ave. will be permitted.

(4) A standard light controlling Leesburg traffic eastbound into Court St. or Highland Ave.;

(5) A red ball (stop and then proceed with caution) controlling traffic from Highland Ave. into the intersection. This will be in conjunction with a green arrow which will permit traffic in a center lane to turn left into Leesburg Ave. No turns from Highland into Clinton will be permitted, and drivers wishing to get into Clinton from Highland may turn into Leesburg and then use one of the cross streets to the west— particularly Oakland Ave. where a light guards the intersection with Clinton. Highland traffic moving into Court will stop at the red ball and then proceed with caution.

THE SIGNAL layout was approved by Council after Ralph Ryerson, Columbus, traffic coordinator of the State Highway Department's Bureau of Traffic, had suggested several minor changes in an earlier plan. He was accompanied to the meeting by Howard Gregg, Washington C. H., route marking superintendent for Highway Division 6 with headquarters at Delaware.

Also on hand to explain the operation of the signal system was James Lewis, traffic engineer for Baldwin and Sours, Columbus, who furnished the city's new traffic signal system and will provide the signals at the intersection.

Left - turning westbound traffic at the intersection will be protected by the largest of five "islands" designed to channelize traffic flow at the "Y".

Westbound traffic will be prepared for the diversion system at the west end of the Paint Creek bridge where a tubular steel support spanning Court St. will guide traffic into the proper lanes— both by route numbers and by cities.

Seven Men Here Ready for Fishing

Seven Fayette County men are at their places of business today, but their hearts are not in their work. They are dreaming of the days of relaxation ahead while making mental preparations to leave Saturday for Battersea, Ontario.

In one expedition will be Bill Himmelspach, Paul Pennington, Harry Thrailkill and Joe F. Loudner. In the other will be Ray Brandenburg, Ray French and Sam Marting.

They plan to stay a week in neighboring cottages on Dog Lake and hope to catch some big bass and, maybe, some pike and lake trout. But, what they are really looking forward to is an escape from the daily grind of business and find relaxation.

Although Battersea, a little village on Dog Lake, is only about 20 mile from the busy city of Kingston, one of the Fayette County fishermen said things are pretty primative around there. . .they manage to keep it that way for people who want to get away from the tensions of modern life in the city."

No other beauty aid in America can make this statement:
Now you can shed— yes, actually shed dull, lifeless skin with SKIN-UP

That's why SKIN UP alone wakes up the "sleeping beauty" of your face—quickly, and more important, safely.
Even the cleanest complexion wears a "mask" of worn-out skin cells. A Viennese Beauty Scientist, Frau Freidl Schreyer, has discovered a new emulsion that lifts away the old top layer and releases the glowing beauty beneath! It's SKIN UP.
Tested on 21,000 women of all skin types, it helped blemishes disappear, blackheads vanish. It is an original Viennese Salon Facial treatment, adapted for home use.
Use SKIN UP to prepare face and throat for treatment creams. Apply a little, let dry. When dry, SKIN UP acts as thousands of tiny erasers, removing dead skin from pores, allowing skin to "breathe." It feeds skin with a substance which promotes growth of the cells.
SKIN UP does what no cleanser, cream, mask or cosmetic can hope to do. Does it quickly and safely. There is no similar product in America today.
Let SKIN UP clear your pores and erase dead cells. Enough for 40 treatments, costs just $5.00 plus 10% Federal Tax. (That's over a month's daily salon treatments.)
